Outweighed by 10 pounds but not overawed by the thought, two-year-old Dale McInnis of 3766 Duke Street gazes at the 35-pound, 15-ounce spring salmon that father Mickey caught off Albert Head Wednesday. The luncheon took 90 minutes to land. Equally impressive was the 18-pound, three-ounce coho that Dale's mother hooked near the same spot recently.

Fleming, Lloyd Clash Over U.K. Trade Plans

ACCRA, Ghana (CP)—Finance Minister Donald Fleming said Wednesday the United Kingdom is irretrievably "launched on a slippery slope" to membership in the European Common Market. As a result the Commonwealth never will be the same again.

In an impassioned speech to the Commonwealth economic ministers' conference, the Canadian minister said the U.K.—free and sovereign—is the indispensable leader of the Commonwealth.

But Canada could see no prospect that the U.K., having opened negotiations on Common Market membership, could withdraw now.

Whatever the result of the negotiations, he said, relations between the U.K. and other Commonwealth members never will be the same again.

"If we are to look at the possibilities of negotiations with any degree of realism, we cannot fail to see that economic and political relationships within the Commonwealth will be fundamentally changed."

SPEAKS AN HOUR

In an hour-long statement to the closed conference, Fleming also said: "The United Kingdom cannot have its foot in each group and retain the freedom of action which is necessary to its leadership of the Commonwealth."

Selwyn Lloyd, the U.K. chancellor of the exchequer, closing the day-long discussion, took issue with Fleming's basic argument.

Lloyd said he didn't think the U.K.'s membership in the Commonwealth and the Common Market are irreconcilable.

"If it came to a choice, you know what our answer would be," Lloyd told the ministers of 12 other Commonwealth countries in Ghana's school of law.

Informants said Lloyd did not specify what the answer would be, but that it was clear from his statement the choice would be to stay within the Commonwealth.

MAY CALL CONFERENCE

Lloyd also said he envisages a conference of Commonwealth prime ministers being called before the U.K. winds up its Common Market negotiations.

Speaking before Fleming, Trade Minister George Hees spelled out gloomy results for Canada from U.K. membership in the Common Market.

Hees said that if Britain accepts the Common Market tariff system, "extensive damage and in some cases irreparable damage, would result from the loss of our present trading arrangements with the United Kingdom."

He said the Canadian government strongly urges the U.K., in approaching negotiations on Common Market membership, to "ensure that the trading arrangements which exist between the U.K. and her Commonwealth part-

HEES' BLAST INCORRECTLY QUOTED—PM

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today he is sure a press report of a statement by Trade Minister Hees in Accra does not represent what Mr. Hees said.

He was replying in the Commons to Opposition Leader Pearson who said the report quoted Mr. Hees as saying Britain must choose between the European Common Market and the Commonwealth.

Mr. Diefenbaker said Canada has pointed out to Britain the "potential effects" of British membership in the Common Market unless provision were made for protection of Commonwealth trade preferences.

No such alternative as attributed to Mr. Hees had been advanced by the Canadian government.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Russia today exploded the 10th of its fallout-producing series of atmospheric atom bomb tests.

CARLA GIVES CHICAGO RECORD BREAKING RAIN

(By UP International)

The sodden remnants of Hurricane Carla hit Chicago with record-breaking rains today on its meandering ramble from the storm-devastated Texas coast to the Great Lakes.

The night-long Chicago rains flooded 3,000 basements, swamped city buses, snarled traffic on flooded streets, and forced suburban rescue crews to turn out in rowboats. The flow of the Chicago River was reversed, forcing it back into Lake Michigan, to prevent flooding in the loop area.

In a six-hour period ending at 1 a.m., Chicago had been soaked by 2.41 inches of rain.

150 Katangans, 30 UN Soldiers Killed or Wounded As War Flares

(CP from AP-Reuters)

LEOPOLDVILLE—Bitter fighting flared again in Elisabethville today. Reports from the capital of Katanga said white-officered Katangan troops fired on United Nations aircraft and bombed a refugee camp with mortars.

Reports reaching Leopoldville, capital of the Congo, said that during the night Katanga launched three determined attacks against the city's post office but were beaten off by UN Indian troops with heavy losses.

About 150 Katanga troops were estimated to have been killed or wounded in the fighting so far. United Nations casualties were said to have risen to more than 40.

The counter-attack came as the UN troops appeared to have a tight grip on the key points in the provincial capital.

CITY POCKETS HELD

A UN spokesman said the Katanga forces apparently had been rallied by their white officers and were holding isolated pockets in the city.

The headquarters of the Katanga Army in Elisabethville was burning fiercely as the result of a UN bombardment, it was reported. The UN opened up on the Katangan camp after UN aircraft guns there had fired on a UN plane as it tried to land at the nearby airport. The plane was not believed to have been damaged.

Local UN commanders expressed confidence that guns in the camp would be silenced by tonight.

Messages reaching Leopoldville reported that Katanga President Moïse Tshombe was holed up in his presidential palace surrounded by hundreds of his troops.

He originally sought refuge in the British consulate in Elisabethville but moved on several times after that, it was reported.

FIRE ON REFUGEES

Throughout Wednesday Katangans, led by white officers, bombarded an Elisabethville camp housing 40,000 Baluba tribal refugees, according to reports, and opened up again today with mortars and machine-guns.

Said a UN spokesman: "It sounds distressingly as though the bombardment has caused casualties."

Gromyko, Rusk To Discuss Views

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia today announced its readiness to open talks in New York with the United States over the Berlin crisis and other world problems.

An announcement by the Soviet foreign ministry said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, leader of the Russian delegation to the United Nations next week, is ready for an exchange of opinions with U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk.

The announcement was in reply to President Kennedy's statement in Washington Wednesday that the U.S. is prepared for "serious" talks.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western Big Four foreign ministers open a conference here today to chart the Allied approach to Russia next week on negotiations for a Berlin settlement.

The three-day Western policy conference is scheduled to start at the state department at mid-afternoon with Rusk, Foreign Secretary Lord Home of Britain, and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville of France, attending.

SCHEDULES TALKS

Rusk scheduled preliminary talks earlier in the day with Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano of West Germany and Lord Home. Von Brentano will join the main conference Friday morning and participate in the sessions which will continue into Saturday.

Home said on his arrival that the foreign ministers will seek a fair basis for discussions with the Russians on Berlin. Gromyko said a negotiated settlement of the problem does not depend entirely on the Western allies, adding that it takes two to make for successful negotiations.

Three main issues are set for discussion—the problem of Berlin negotiation between Russia and the Western powers, the planning of emergency measures to meet specific steps the Russians could take to put pressure on West Berlin and issues which may come up at the United Nations. The third item is understood to include tactics for stopping Russia's expected bid to give Communist China a seat in the UN.

READY TO TALK

Kennedy said Wednesday in his statement on Berlin that the United States is ready to discuss the Berlin crisis with Russia and other governments in a search for means "to preserve an honorable peace."

"If that is the purpose on all sides there is no need for resort to force."

Fires on Docked Ship

MONTREAL (CP)—A series of small fires which broke out early today aboard the Empress of England, docked in Montreal, are believed to have been deliberately set. Police said the fires were put out in about an hour by firemen from two stations.

District forester Ian Cameron and chief protection officer D. H. Owen were on Salt Spring Island to investigate today.

RAPID SPREAD

They reported that a forest lookout on Mount Bruce, next to Mount Tuam, where the fire is, first spotted a small spiral of smoke and contacted Ranger Lorensen. But within minutes the smoke had mushroomed to a large tower. The fire itself jumped from 10 to 100 acres within minutes.

"The ranger realized that because of the rapid spread in old dry logging slash, grassy knolls and scrub timber that it was the hottest type of fire, generating a tremendous volume of heat," said the forest service report.

"On the basis of this information he made the decision that a water bomber with 600 gallons of water could not effectively be used because of the intense heat. The water would have evaporated before it hit the ground."

The forest service was well aware that Mr. Davidson was standing by, but by the time he had loaded his tanks his aircraft would have been even less help.

SALT SPRING BURNS

Fire Too Hot For Water Bombing

(See page 17)

A water bomber would have been no use, even in the early stages of a fire which now covers 700 acres on Salt Spring Island, B.C. Forest Service officials said today.

Even though an Avenger aircraft was available only seven air miles away at Patricia Bay Airport, its water "bomb" would have evaporated before reaching the ground because of intense heat, they said.

Decision not to call it into service was made by Ganges forest ranger L. H. Lorensen shortly after first report of the fire, at 1:10 p.m. Wednesday.

TURNED DOWN

Pilot Alex Davidson, standing by his Avenger at Patricia Bay, also saw the first spiral of smoke, offered his services, but was turned down.

"If the aircraft had been called early enough, I'm sure it would have been some help," said Mr. Davidson, who is test pilot for Fairley Aviation Co.

But, he said, he did not want to get "involved with government policy or politics."

Usual policy is not to call in a water bomber unless requested by a local one-spot ranger. Mr. Davidson was told by Vancouver Forest District officials in Vancouver that no such request had been made.

District forester Ian Cameron and chief protection officer D. H. Owen were on Salt Spring Island to investigate today.

City Hall Employee Gets Jail

City Hall employee Hugh Gordon MacKenzie, 1918 Lullie, was sentenced to 14 months in prison for theft of $3,522 when he appeared in city police court today.

The 50-year-old chief clerk in the city controller's office had pleaded guilty to nine charges of theft from the Victoria Civic Credit Union over a period of a year starting Aug. 30, 1960. He was treasurer of the credit union.

Magistrate William Ostler sentenced him to concurrent terms of 14 months on each of two offences and six months for each of the other seven.

He has worked for the city for 32 years.

Magistrate Ostler issued an order for restitution of the $3,522.43 involved in the nine charges.

Impassive throughout his previous appearances in court, MacKenzie today sat hunched away from the court as a "succession of friends and fellow-workers testified to his good character."

BREAKS DOWN

He broke down when the woman teacher of his young son described him in glowing terms.

This was evidence of what Mr. Ostler called "an inner torment from which there is no escape" during his summation before imposing sentence.

"Matters of this kind," said the magistrate, "carry a crushing personal burden in addition to any penalty imposed by the court."

"In that respect his punishment has already commenced."

Th' statemen' are arrangin' t' talk about th' international situation. Thet puts 'em even with just about every one else in th' world.

Mister Bennett's goin' t' Prince George t' talk about his power plan. Seems he's goin' t' explain it at great distance as well as great length.

Nuclear War . . . or Peace

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—Two Soviet marshals warned today that any war between Russia and the West would turn into a nuclear holocaust.

Defence Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky wrote in Pravda that Soviet forces would be at an advantage because their rockets can deliver nuclear bombs that will reach the aggressor in his own den.

Malinovsky said the Russians have great nuclear arms "amounting to many millions of tons of TNT."

Western correspondents received a similar view in a rare chat with another marshal, Andrei Yermenko, who commanded victorious Soviet forces at Stalingrad. He is deputy defence minister and inspector general of the Red Army.

Yermenko spoke to newspaper men while flying back to Moscow from a visit to Stalingrad. He recalled that two months ago he wrote in the Soviet magazine International Life that U.S. officials were boosting their conventional forces to avoid forcing Russia into a nuclear war.

He told the correspondents it will not work out that way—small wars will develop into nuclear conflicts.

To support this view, the marshal said the First World War began with rifles and machine-guns but ended with tanks; the second began with tanks and ended with nuclear weapons, and the third would start with rockets carrying nuclear warheads.

Malinovsky wrote: "The use of the means of mass destruction and massive blows will impart to this war an aspect of unprecedented devastation. We must prepare our armed forces for such a strenuous, difficult and exceptionally fierce war."

"The Soviet armed forces

ST. INGBERT, Germany — Henk Luyck, 24, a Dutch lion tamer with a local circus, didn't show up for his performance Wednesday. He had been bitten by a mouse.

Luyck, who handles five tigers, said the mouse bit his hand, causing blood poisoning.

"Tigers are friendlier than those mice," he said. "Mice are pretty lousy characters."

LONDON — Eleven school children opened their books Wednesday and were asked to read this sentence:

"Wuns upon a tiem."

It was the first day of an experiment aimed at teaching British boys and girls to read and write a new way.

The 11-year-olds are in a special class at Roxeth Hill school in nearby Harrow.

"This is a very serious experiment," said headmaster Ronald Yeates. "We believe they will learn to read much faster this way."

The method is called the augmented Roman alphabet. It has 43 symbols. Words are spelled just as they sound.

"The big problem is how will they react to the transition stage at the age of seven when we gradually switch them back to the traditional alphabet," said the headmaster.

PRINCE ALBERT — A big rush is on to stake claims in the Nesbitt forest reserve just north of Prince Albert.

Nobody seems to know exactly why, and if they do they're not saying.

It started a few weeks ago when a man listed as N. Pellack of Winnipeg staked a claim on three sections of land in the forest reserve and recorded his claim in Prince Albert.

Mr. Pellack hasn't been back since filing his claim.

But, about 400 Prince Albert area residents have flocked to the reserve to stake claims of their own.

The mining claims recorder says the rush is "just like a picnic."

But nobody seems to know what, if anything, lies beneath the ground.

TURIN, Italy (AP)—Mario Serrallunga related Wednesday how he saved his wallet by appealing for "honor among thieves."

He not only saved his money. He got an apology from a would-be holdup man who said: "Sorry, Buddy, I didn't know you were a robber too."

"Tough luck, buddy," Mario, 32, replied calmly when a hitchhiker he picked up pulled a gun. "I'm in the same business. I stole this car less than half an hour ago. I've done a one-year stretch in prison and another term of three months for picking pockets."

ners, which have been mutually beneficial over so many years, remain unchanged."

Observers said this position, the strongest yet taken by Canada on the issue, would rule out British membership in the Common Market.

The market's goal of tariff-free movement of goods is incompatible with the Commonwealth preferential tariff system.

The statements by Fleming and Hebs were the most pessimistic over made by Canadian spokesmen about effects of the U.K.'s move toward the Common Market.

Arguing that the U.K. cannot withdraw from the Common Market after opening negotiations, Fleming said withdrawal could be seen as a political failure for the U.K. government and would give offence to the Common Market.

—Specks of dandruff on their shoulders (because they didn't shampoo often enough).

—Their complexions (pimples and acne that can be treated).

The first thing that any boy or girl should do is keep himself clean at all times, the article said.

There is no substitute for the Commonwealth. It is to be dropped for the illusory shadow of who can tell what?

Fleming said a year ago the U.K. had said it would not open Common Market negotiations unless there was a basis for negotiations, yet Lloyd now had admitted the U.K. was in the dark about what to expect.

Plan to Develop Columbia Power Interests World

VANCOUVER (CP)—A United States technical expert says development of the Columbia River could serve as a pattern for developments elsewhere of international rivers.

Irving Fox of Washington, D.C., said Wednesday other countries are watching with interest progress being made on the Columbia.

He said they may have problems that are entirely different, "but the principle of harnessing an international river to the benefit of the countries through which it runs is the same."

Mr. Fox is one of the experts from 15 countries attending a University of B.C. seminar on the integrated development of river basins.

He is president of Resources for the Future, Inc., a non-profit corporation established by the Ford Foundation to study development of natural resources.

Canadian gas, oil and manufactured products can be exported, he said, "but not electric energy... in spite of the fact that hydro-electric energy is replenishable whereas gas and oil are not."

Recoverability or curtailment of deliveries of hydro power, he said, are not a valid reason today for blocking export of power.

Mr. Stevens added: "The utilities in the U.S. northwest know from experience that curtailment can be enforced and withdrawal clauses are included in many present-day power contracts."

Among several other possible power pools, Mr. Stevens suggested one embracing western Canada.

The West, he said, will require 4,500,000 additional kilowatts by 1970 and this will involve an expenditure of $1,800,000,000.

In London also, Dr. Hastings Banda, leader of the Malawi Congress Party of Nyasaland, said he welcomed the "long overdue" UN action.

Banda described Moise Tshombe as a "traitor" and said he is in league with "certain white elements" in Rhodesia that wanted Katanga to

Who's Going to Pay For Fire Fight Aid?

Clash Coming On Newfoundland Bill From Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—A new federal-provincial scrap appears to be smouldering in the embers of Newfoundland's forest fires.

The Progressive Conservative government in Ottawa and the Newfoundland Liberal administration, who have feuded on such matters as the constitution, RCMP and housing, now appear at odds over defraying firefighting costs.

The issue seems to be over the bill Ottawa is expected to present to Premier Smallwood's government for federal assistance in sending 1,100 troops to fight Newfoundland's fires.

The matter emerged into the open Wednesday after the Commons were informed that the defence department has billed Nova Scotia for $60,123 "out-of-pocket expenses" in assisting the province to fight forest fires in the Shelburne area.

410 FOUGHT FIRES

Egan Chambers, parliamentary secretary to Defence Minister Harkness, replying to J. W. Pickersgill, Liberal MP for Bonaville—Twillingate, said 410 army officers and men fought the Nova Scotia fires.

REFUSED TO SIGN

It is understood that Mr. Smallwood learned about the federal bill to Nova Scotia before he was asked by the local military commander to sign a document saying he had sought troops to help fight Newfoundland's fires. He refused to sign it.

The implication was that Ottawa now will have a difficult time presenting Newfoundland with a firefighting bill.

In St. John's, Premier Smallwood issued a statement that he was surprised to see the defence minister quoted as saying in effect that he had refused to sign a document which "merely asks us to acknowledge that we had asked for the troops."

"I would not have hesitated and would not now hesitate to sign an acknowledgment that I had asked for the troops for it is public knowledge that I did ask," he said.

Mr. Pickersgill, whose constituency is one of the fire-damaged areas, suggested federal aid should have been offered before the Newfoundland government requested assistance last month after Gander airport was threatened.

RUSSELL AIDES IGNORE POLICE BAN ON RALLY

LONDON (AP)—Followers of Earl Russell announced today they will defy a police ban and go ahead Sunday with a giant rally to denounce nuclear weapons.

The prospects were that the organizers will land in jail alongside the 89-year-old philosopher and 32 of his backers, doing time for breach of the peace.

Police Wednesday banned the anti-bomb Committee of 100 from any activities Sunday in a mile-square area of London, including Trafalgar Square, the Whitehall district of government offices, Grosvenor Square where the U.S. Embassy stands, Piccadilly Circus and Buckingham Palace.

IN PARLIAMENT

Soviet Nuclear Bluff 'Carried' to Canadians

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA — Defence Minister Harkness says attempts are being made through exaggerated talk about Soviet nuclear capabilities to frighten Canadians into adopting pacifist or neutralist attitudes.

Those behind the attempts are "carrying to the Canadian people the terror tactics" of Soviet Premier Khrushchev, he told the Commons Wednesday.

Mr. Harkness was speaking during the second day of debate on his department's 1961-62 spending estimates. The debate continues today.

He said he had read in a newspaper where 1,000 nuclear bombs would be landed on Canada by intercontinental ballistic missile.

"It is a complete impossibility," he went on. "I am afraid that many of the people who are talking this way are doing so with the deliberate idea of trying to scare people and frighten them into adopting a pacifist or neutralist attitude."

"In other words, this is really a means of carrying to the Canadian people the terror tactics of Khrushchev."

New Party Policy Called 'Eyewash'

Mr. Harkness fired back at his critics. He said Liberal defence critic Paul Hellyer, Toronto Trinity, should be ashamed of himself for suggesting Canada's forces overseas lack modern equipment. The suggestion was completely incorrect.

Mr. Harkness said the Liberal defence policy changes from week to week—as Liberal Leader Pearson amends it in his speeches.

As for the New Democratic Party's policy on NATO, Mr. Harkness termed it "merely eyewash."

Trio Told to Emerge From Trance

Mr. Hellyer described the defence minister, associate defence minister Sevigny and Egan Chambers, parliamentary secretary to Mr. Harkness, as "winkin', blinkin' and nod."

The three were going to have to "come out of their trance."

In the same lengthy debate H. W. Herdridge (CCF—Kootenay West) Wednesday called NATO "a military organization dictating the foreign policies of its member states."

He also expressed fear that German generals are becoming the dominant influence in the Atlantic alliance.

Mr. Herdridge said the appointment of German Gen. Adolf Heusinger to a NATO staff position in Washington

REV. ROBERT PIERSON governor's son-in-law

Freedom Priests Go to Jail

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi authorities jailed Rev. Robert Pierson, son-in-law of New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller, and 14 other white and Negro Episcopal priests Wednesday following their attempt to desegregate a Jackson bus terminal.

The 15 priests—12 whites and three Negroes—entered the bus terminal's white waiting room. Two patrolmen ordered them out. They refused to move.

Police Capt. J. L. Ray, who has handled most of the more than 300 "Freedom Rider" arrests in this Mississippi capital city, was summoned. He ordered the arrest of the priests on breach of peace charges after they again refused to move on.

A police sergeant said they probably will be tried Friday. The 15 were participating in a "prayer pilgrimage" which left New Orleans Tuesday and proceeded without incident until they reached Jackson. Twenty-three white and five Negro Episcopal Anglican priests started the pilgrimage.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court Wednesday: Alice Nicoll, 1249 Rockland, $15 for failing to give right of way to a pedestrian.

Johnny Hansen, 3030 Quadra, $10 for failing to obey the directions of a police officer.

11 Civil Defence Points Outlined

OTTAWA (CP)—Eleven points in a civil defence setup were outlined by Prime Minister Diefenbaker in the Commons Wednesday when he presented estimates for the emergency measures organization.

He spelled out various national survival plans, something, he said, no one else had relished doing.

These were the points: 1. Tenders have been called for construction of a variety of prototype fallout shelters at the civil defence college at Airprior, Ont.

2. The works department has surveyed 4,820 federal buildings in Canada to determine what fallout protection they afford and how much accommodation could be made available to the public.

3. More than 1,000,000 copies of the pamphlet Eleven Steps to Survival have been printed and another large printing is on order. There had been a "very large increase" in public requests for the pamphlet in view of the Berlin crisis.

4. The federal government's 75 per cent cost share of such local measures as communications equipment, local government headquarters, first-aid training, rescue equipment, protective clothing and pamphlets was estimated at $3,700,000 this year.

Marketing Chief Quits Job With BCE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Another top executive resigned Wednesday from the government-owned British Columbia Electric Company.

E. Douglas Sutcliffe, 41, general manager of the firm's marketing division, declined to comment on his resignation.

"Right now I am chiefly concerned with finding a new position," he said. "I may have something to say later."

BCE chairman, Dr. Gordon Shrum, said it was a "great loss" to the company and gave the opinion that Mr. Sutcliffe prefers to work in private industry rather than a government enterprise.

Mr. Sutcliffe is one of several executives to resign from the firm since it was taken over by the provincial government Aug. 1.

Student Suspect In Art Defacing

MONTREAL (CP)—Police said today they are questioning a 23-year-old art student in connection with two bank robberies Tuesday and the defacing of five paintings at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts the day before.

No one has been charged in connection with the bank robberies, during which about $2,000 was taken, or with the vandalism.

FORMER KOREAN SOCIALIST CHIEF SENTENCED TO DEATH

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea's revolutionary court gave a death sentence today to Choi Paik-keun, a former Socialist leader, on charges of pro-Communist activities. A five-man tribunal headed by a military officer also sentenced five other members of the defunct Socialist party to prison terms ranging from five to 15 years on similar charges.

Not Just Ring-Siders

AS PREMIER BENNETT PREPARES his Prince George speech for delivery Saturday—a speech expected to define his government's policy for hydro development in British Columbia—the people of this province have been reminded that authorities in Victoria and Ottawa are not the only ones who can take decisive action on the issue.

American federal and state officials in the Pacific Northwest have underscored their capacities in that field.

Near completion, says Mr. Charles F. Luce, Bonneville Power Administrator and the Kennedy Administration's chief power spokesman in the Northwest, is an agreement among private and public power generating utilities in the Northwest to wring every kilowatt possible from their own operations.

This, presumably, will not meet the requirements of the electrical power-hungry northwest states; but it will provide additional electricity for early use.

In the long term, moreover, the utilities of the Pacific Northwest are convinced that they can create their own storage dams in the United States to provide power "substantially cheaper than Peace River power, in addition to providing flood control needs."

These are the words of Mr. Luce, who admits that such development south of the border would be more costly than storage dams built in British Columbia on the Columbia.

Mr. Luce's position is supported by Mr. Earl Coe, director of the Washington State Department of Conservation at Olympia.

If Mr. Bennett's actions create long delay in the application of the Columbia Treaty not yet signed by Ottawa, or its rejection, then, says Mr. Coe, some serious second thoughts will arise in the Pacific Northwest.

"It makes one wonder," he adds, "if we should not reconsider a 'good neighbor policy,' which we in the Northwest have tried to pursue with British Columbia, and so begin to think of our own water-storage potentials, realizing all the power development from water storage—not 50 per cent as per treaty—and also the millions of dollars per year which we have agreed to pay to Canada for flood benefits in Washington and Oregon."

The American spokesmen, it may be concluded, would prefer to proceed with the treaty, which they consider an outstanding example of co-operation between nations of the free world and a good and fair bargain. They would save money if the arrangements it proposes were carried out. But, they point out, there is an alternative—storage in their own country, an alternative that becomes more practical if international development of the Columbia is delayed.

According to the statement of Mr. Luce, moreover, the alternative would provide cheaper power to the United States than any generated on the Peace, even if Canada permitted export from that source. To date, the government has indicated no intention of varying its ban on such exports.

Mr. Bennett may be squaring off against Mr. Fulton at Prince George. He is wrong, however, if he considers the Americans mere ring-side spectators.

Settled By Force

IT IS UNFORTUNATE THAT United Nations troops have been forced to use their weapons in straightening out the Congo muddle, but there is a sense of relief that at last the central Congolese authority has been confirmed and the rebel Katanga regime sent into hiding.

Moise Tshombe, who has called himself president of Katanga, has long stalemated a settlement of the Congo problem. Since Katanga's mineral resources constitute a large part of the Congo's wealth, he held high cards. But his movement was a rebellion against the Congolese state with its government at Leopoldville—it was a secession movement which has now been put down.

For the long-run equilibrium of the Congo it is perhaps a good thing that this has been accomplished with U.N. troops rather than through the civil war which had threatened. With this unfortunately bloody battle won, there may now be a better hope for peaceful development of the country. Its problems of education, health, economics and administration are sufficiently huge; no additional problems of internal strife, based on the ambitions of local leaders, are required.

For the Cause

THE PRESENT JAILING OF British philosopher Bertrand Russell appears to be a case of the unstoppable missile and the immovable post.

The cause which Lord Russell supports—abolition of nuclear weapons—is certainly a reasonable one in view of the state of the world. But his latest manner of pressing his views—a public demonstration which had been forbidden by the law—could not be ignored by the authorities. We can only decide that he was praiseworthy in principle but blameworthy in execution.

The British government will come under heavy censure for jailing Lord Russell, his wife and a number of other sympathizers. But officialdom could hardly say, "We excuse you from obeying the law because you are so highly regarded."

The situation is unpleasant all round, as are most aspects of the nuclear weapons race. But among redeeming features, for the pro-Russell element, will be the likelihood that Lord Russell is delighted with the publicity he is receiving for his cause, and that he is finding martyrdom on this occasion, as on numerous others, not entirely unwelcome.

The Advice of an Expert

THE ADVICE OF AN IM-ported expert agrees in almost every particular with the often expressed opinions of many local persons—we need a new, large provincial museum building in which the wealth of exhibits now owned or in future to be obtained may be properly displayed.

The present building, the east block of the legislative buildings, "was never intended as a museum in the first place," as Dr. Carl Gutha, a noted American museum expert engaged to study the local situation, observes. Only a fraction of the Indian objects, wild life and other exhibits can be shown. The bulk of the growing collection is stored in crowded quarters and in effect lost to the public. This is not only deplorable from the point of view of the residents and visitors who would like to study the material, it is also a waste of a first-class asset which would add to the educational facilities of this community which now is in the process of gaining a university.

Dr. Gutha also approves of the suggested location for a museum building—the parking property at the corner of Belleville and Government Streets. A handsome structure here would enhance the inner harbor scene, provide adequate accommodation for a collection of great interest and value, and enable the good work of Dr. Clifford Carl and his able staff to be freed of the impediments of cramped quarters and outmoded facilities.

This is essentially a provincial government undertaking, and one which would receive wide approval.

To Awaken Sleeping Talent

NEW YORK WILL SPEND $190,000 this year in 16 school districts to awaken the dormant ability to learn in children coming from underprivileged regions.

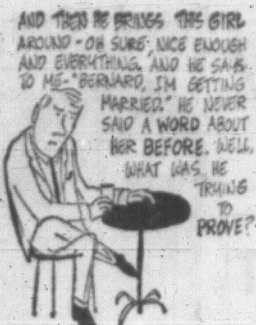

Tests have disclosed to the authorities that many of the state's young people have potentialities which are never tapped because ordinary school systems fail to develop them.

As a result of grants made this year, special efforts will be made to vary the approach to such children. Some will be placed in smaller classes. Some will receive remedial instruction. For others a program of field trips and special programs for cultural enrichment will be furnished and extended pupil personnel service, involving special health, guidance, psychological and social work, will be provided.

The New York authorities have reason to expect some success. The higher horizons program instituted in Harlem some time ago has shown that good results are achieved by specialized methods of teaching and by exposing children to beneficial influences which they would never reach in the routine course of ordinary school life.

The experiment will be watched by educationists interested in stimulating the use of learning abilities left quiescent by too many school systems. Satisfactory results, it seems, could encourage other school boards to expand programs to awaken sleeping talents in children from favorable environments.

FROM WASHINGTON

Far More Grave Than the Free-City Talk Might Suggest

By JOSEPH ALSOP

TWO quite different kinds of life are being lived, at this moment, in this city and the other Western capitals. One kind is the ordinary life of the immense majority, a life still only slightly worry-flecked by the daily papers. The other kind is the life of the tiny minority of policy-makers directly concerned with the management of the Berlin crisis. These men have been living in the recurring shadow of immediate war-danger ever since August 23. And it is high time for this unpleasant fact to be understood by the rest of us, who belong to the majority.

Alsop

The moment when the chilling shadow was felt can be precisely specified, because August 23 was the date of the first Kremlin note hinting at possible interference with the air-routes to Berlin.

It can now be stated, on excellent authority, that the men of the inner group in the U.S. government at first rather strongly inclined to the view that this Soviet note actually foreshadowed an attempt to sever the civilian air transport-line which links

Berlin with the rest of the world. Such an attempt would have met with an immediate military response—after which anything might have happened.

For this very reason, the first reply to the Soviet note was the President's grim personal warning to Nikita S. Khrushchev. The method of an individual statement by the President was chosen, precisely because it was thought that it might be risky to take the time that is always needed to prepare an agreed response by all the Western Allies.

There are some reasons to believe that this analysis was correct. Apparently the Soviets seriously hoped that they could get away with an attack on the civilian air routes, because on August 13, they already had got away with walling off East Berlin from West Berlin.

But if this is correct, the President's statement gave Khrushchev and Company food for time-consuming reflection. And the Kennedy statement was then followed by the almost equally forceful joint response of all the Western Allies on August 26.

In those four or five days after August 23, the shadow of war-danger was very strong and very chilling. It recurred again, with the delivery of the second Soviet note of September 2, more directly questioning the status of the air routes to Berlin.

Again, it was strongly felt for some days—at least until the delivery of last week's firm though overly legalistic Western answer. And the truth is, alas, that the shadow, though less heavy at the moment, has by no means vanished as yet.

Those who doubt this description of the climate in the inner group of American policy-makers should read the remarkable speech delivered to the U.S. Army Association last Thursday, by one of the leading members of the inner group, Assistant Secretary of Defence Paul H. Nitze.

This speech, even sterner than Secretary of State Dean Rusk's subsequent message on the same theme, contained the passage already widely quoted:

"The Communists should understand that though Democracies have great patience and forbearance, there comes a point where one more straw will break the camel's back of that forbearance. Any interference with our essential rights in Berlin must be viewed by us as the straw that breaks the camel's back."

Those lines should be read in the 'sombre' context above given. But more should also be read. No public notice was taken, for instance of Nitze's statement that Berlin is "merely a proving ground" for "a much broader Communist objective."

This objective was then defined as "imposing on the U.S., by the application of threats of force and terror tactics, a psychological defeat (which would) demonstrate our impotence in the face of the much advertised Soviet power"—and thus break the Western Alliance and start a general chain reaction of disaster all over the world.

Here, reportedly, Nitze offered his own paraphrase of the presidentially-approved definition of the Soviets' Berlin objectives, as given in the famous secret report by former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

This means of course that the highest level view of the Berlin problem is far more grave than the free-city-talk and resort-to-the-UN-talk might suggest.

As to the highest level view of what to do about it, that is suggested by two more sardonic Nitze sentences:

"As Clausewitz put it very succinctly years ago, the aggressor is always peaceloving, for he wants to enter the territory of his victim unopposed. Clausewitz said war exists for the benefit of the defender; it comes about only if the defender wishes to fight for his vital interests rather than surrender them." ## MANY COLLEGE LECTURES ARE OF LITTLE VALUE

By R. B. BOURDILLON

'Perfectly Pleased With Our Work... the Perfectest Hell'

MANY of us have smiled at the story of the solemn Scottish preacher who urged his congregation to fall on their knees in prayer as soon as they reached home, and to ask the Deity the solemn question: "Am I a goat?" But university teachers may well ask themselves a similar question, namely: "Does my teaching prevent students from pursuing other studies of greater value?"

This is a searching question. Can the chemists and the engineers justify all the long hours spent in the laboratory on their highly specialized subjects, and the resultant enforced neglect of human studies? Can the teaching of Latin and Greek as well as French and English, to 12,000 young Canadians in the east, justify the immense time thus spent, and the enforced neglect of modern studies? (Katz, Canadian Education Today, 1956.)

The question is equally pertinent to the teachers of English. The current set books for the compulsory English (100) at Victoria, include the unpleasant and tedious "Brave New World" of Aldous Huxley, and the drama of the pathetically foolish Othello. Are these works more worth study than those of T. H. Huxley, or of Julian Huxley, with their immensely more valuable content, or than plays in which the chief characters are worthy of respect?

Perhaps teachers have paid too much attention to "style" and too little to content in the literature they prescribed. That is certainly suggested on comparing Virgil's Aeneid, which has often been chosen as a set book, with the much more valuable diary of Marcus Aurelius, which is seldom selected. In this rapidly changing world, it is really important to avoid wasting the time of students on outworn ideas. The old pretenses for doing so no longer sound convincing. Such arguments as: "I teach this because there is a demand for it," or "because it is valuable," or "because the university pays me to do so," do not suffice, unless there is reason to believe that the subject concerned is the best possible for the students.

Dr. Bourdillon studied chemistry as an undergraduate at Oxford University, then taught it there for some years and served for a term as Dean of University College. He later studied medicine at Oxford and London and from 1926 to 1954 worked on the scientific staff of the British Medical Research Council. In 1955 he came to live at Ganges, B.C.

Continued insistence on ancient studies is too reminiscent of Kipling's terrible poem, "The Old Men."

"We shall lift up the ropes that constrain our youth,
To bind on our children's hands;
We shall call to the water below the bridges
To return and replenish our lands;
We shall harness horses (Death's own pale horses)
And scholarly plough the sands.

Yes, we shall be perfectly pleased with our work,
And that is the Perfectest Hell of it."

Universities would provide an education better fitted for the coming decades if they were to reserve teaching in the following subjects for post-graduate study only: all dead languages, all history selected to emphasize nationalism, and all minutely detailed history prior to 1900, all literature that was not at least as valuable for content as for style. Those faculties with courses specializing in a single science or professional subject, might omit such a fraction of them as would allow 20 per cent of the student's time to be spent on other subjects.

These changes would make it possible for every student to learn something of modern science, of current world affairs, of psychology and human nature, and, not least, of the foundations of ethics. Then the desire that a university degree should denote an educated person, rather than a technologist, would be more nearly attained.

Too many teachers in schools and universities concentrate on teaching their subjects, forgetting that it would be much more efficient to teach the students how to learn. This defect increases the number of students who fail in their first year, and become classified as "not university material."

Much would be gained if the first three months of university study were directed more to the methods of learning than to the subjects taught.

Even the simple substitution of F. P. Robinson's "Effective Study" (Harper and Bros., N.Y., 1961) for one of the literary works set for the compulsory English (100) would help, especially if reinforced by seminars dealing with individual difficulties in the art of learning. This should be of especial value to students coming from houses where books are a rarity.

While some lectures are useful, and a few are really inspiring, it is becoming recognized that many are of little value, and that students who have learned to use books well, can learn more from precise writing and seminars than from numerous lectures.

It is not always realized that the practice of publishing final examination papers each year after use, is valuable both to students and teachers. Practice on former questions is an excellent way of learning to write clearly and concisely, and helps students to bring out what they do know during the ordeal of examinations.

Is there any mysterious reason for concealing such papers by not allowing students or the public to buy them? Many of the older universities such as Oxford, Cambridge and London in England, publish their papers, and so do some professional bodies such as those in charge of the B.C./Surveyors examinations.

In many universities promotion within faculties has been based more on a member's output of published papers than on the effectiveness of his teaching. Hence much time is spent on minor researches, which, at least in the humanities, are of little value; and too little attention is paid to the improvement of teaching.

This unbalance could be remedied by dividing all future staff appointments into two groups, thus:

(1) "Teaching" posts, carrying during their tenure the prohibition of research into any subject except studies in the methods of teaching and learning. There is a great need for further work in this fascinating field.

(2) "Research" posts, carrying no duty of undergraduate teaching except a potential obligation to give one lecture per term, if requested, on the subject in which the holder was working. (Last of three articles.)

Vulgar, Ain't It?

Quoting from the forthcoming edition of Webster's your esteemed paper informs us that ain't now has official acceptance in the U.S.A. and can be used in the most genteel conversation!

But is this to be wondered at? Quite a number of years ago Times magazine without dissenting, quoted the philosopher Carlyle as saying that America's mission in the world is to vulgarize it.

The tragedies of present world situations, and how Canada can best deal with them!

We have first the revolt of nature as evidenced in the prairie drought. We have today the Texas and Louisiana hurricane Carla, another in Formosa. We have war among men in the Congo, and war between France and Tunisia. We have riots between Jews and Moslems, increasing mental illness, due to complications in living with higher tensions. We have increasing juvenile delinquency, more thievery and other crimes.

We have Montreal becoming the central hub for heroin and other drugs. We have increasing shortages of hospital beds and trained personnel to care for the one in every 10 born that will some time in life need mental institutional

And now worst and most dangerous of all since the devastation due to crazed Hitler, we have the threat of another world war, which this time, due to our having deadly nuclear tools and weapons, could and probably will, end in complete annihilation of what we have thought of as "civilization."

The Wounded Deer

The hunting season is here again. Hunters are urged to look before they shoot. How about the importance of looking after they shoot?

The following incident occurred in Scotland, some years ago. The hunter concerned related his experience and gave a humane journal permission to print it.

He had shot a deer, and only wounded it. He lost sight of it in thickly wooded country and began a search that lasted nine days.

At the end of that time he found the deer. It was lying on the ground, unable to move its hindquarters, but was beating its head on the ground, up and down, up and down.

He put it out of its misery with a quick shot and resolved never again to shoot for sport.

REPORTING

OTTAWA—One thing the foreign affairs debate in the Commons did for me was clarify my thinking on what appears to be the awful dilemma of surrender or suicide facing the western world as the climax of the Cold War.

Suicide is unthinkable. Yet all the bag-bomb groups maintain fervently that an all-out nuclear war would slaughter hundreds of millions, smash civilization, and leave large sections of the world uninhabitable because of radioactivity.

It would be the Communist world's suicide as much as ours, and like two teen-age hot-rodgers, only the one who chickens out will prevent the crash certain to cost the lives of both.

But to chicken out is to surrender; on our part to submit to effective world domination by the Communist bloc. Western lives, cities and nations would be spared, but not for long Western freedom and the West's standard of living.

That is the dilemma in which the bomb-banners propose surrender by unilateral Western renunciation of nuclear weapons. It is the dilemma to which Liberal leader Mike Pearson addressed himself when he voiced the feelings of millions of free men:

"Is there no choice then between the impossible alternatives of suicide or surrender? There must be."

First, Pearson suggests that the dilemma presented as either-or is an "awful choice" that some people, through oversimplification of the situation try to force on us. And as support he quoted from Prof. Hugh Seton-Watson's book "Neither War Nor Peace."

"One may agree," Seton-Watson said, "that it would indeed be better to accept Communist domination... in the hope that with the passage of time later generations may restore liberty."

However, Seton-Watson goes on, "this is not in fact the alternative that faces the governments of the West. The choice is not between the certainty of destruction of the human race and the certainty of Communist domination, but between the possibility of destruction if the West retains atomic weapons and the certainty of Soviet domination, at least of Europe, if the West unilaterally renounces atomic weapons... Most non-Communist Europeans and Americans would prefer the risk to the certainty," Seton-Watson concludes.

The "possibility of destruction" is a good deal short of the certain destruction foreseen by the bomb-banners if we in the West do not renounce our nuclear weapons. Moreover, it is hard to believe that Khrushchev, a realist, would offer Russia for destruction over Berlin.

And so the western policy of standing firm, to which the Canadian government adheres, is not a militaristic made-in-the-Pentagon decision, but rather a western political response to most difficult circumstances that carries calculated risk, but also an even greater probability of success.

It does not mean standing pat. It draws a line: the freedom of the people of West Berlin is not negotiable. But much is negotiable—for instance, withdrawal of forces and creation of a neutral zone in central Europe as suggested a few years ago by Sir Anthony Eden, and formally proposed by Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki.

The Eisenhower administration rejected the Rapacki plan out of hand. The Kennedy administration, standing on the brink of an abyss that could swallow humanity, might react differently.

HM THE QUEEN... just a partist?

New Zealand Calling Up 21-Year-Olds

WELLINGTON (AP)—New Zealand will institute selective army service next year for 21-year-olds under a revised defence plan, Defence Minister Dean Dyre told Parliament today.

In a white paper, he said the plan will permit rapid deployment of a maximum initial force of 13,000 men to support extensive operations in Southeast Asia.

It provides for the building up of the strength and standard of readiness of the regular and territorial army forces. The new army will consist of 3,000 regulars including an infantry battalion now serving in Malaya. In addition, there will be a territorial force of three reduced brigade groups, to be built up in the next four years to 10,000 men. A third component will be a static regular force of 3,250 including young soldiers in training.

SEEK QUICK ACTION
In a future conflict the spearhead of the New Zealand force—the battalion in Malaya—could be in action in a matter of days, with substantial follow-up forces on the scene within weeks.

The selective army training program will induct 2,000 21-year-old trainees into the army each year for 14 weeks' full-time training. Although the white paper does not give details, it was reliably learned that the government plans to use the United States selective system by ballots based on the date of birth.

Tribute to Newsmen By Directors of CP

VANCOUVER (CP)—Tribute to two noted Canadian newspaper men who died this year was paid Wednesday by directors of The Canadian Press.

They were M. E. Nichols, former managing editor of the Winnipeg Tribune and Vancouver Province, and Victor Sifton, president and publisher of the Winnipeg Free Press.

Both men were past presidents of CP, Mr. Nichols having held the office in 1931-33, and Mr. Sifton in 1948-50.

Moving a resolution on Mr. Nichols' death, D. B. Rogers of the Regina Leader-Post referred to his pioneer work in co-operative news-gathering, and his long career as reporter, editor and publisher. The resolution was seconded by Stuart Keate of the Victoria Times.

Mr. Sifton's career as soldier, educationist, wartime administrator and journalist was outlined in a resolution by F. Mercier of Quebec l'Evenement-Journal.

He said Mr. Sifton's term as

Royalists Fear Europe Tie

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—As Britain gropes uncertainly toward closer links with Europe, the belated thought occurs: What happens to the Queen?

What, in other words, will be the position of the British monarchy if the United Kingdom enters the European Economic Community.

A thoughtful Englishman put the question to a Canadian reporter on the way back to London after the Vienna summit conference. There seemed to have been a conspiracy of silence, a gentleman's agreement that the question was best left alone.

Now the silence has been broken. British newspapers are anxiously pondering just what will happen to the throne and all its cherished mystique if and when Britain takes the leap across the channel.

EXPRESS-GLOOMY

The Sunday Express, published by Lord Beaverbrook who has opposed the European idea from the start, takes a gloomy view of the possibilities.

TOMMY WHACKS AT DIF

TORONTO (CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan, leader of the New Democratic Party, said Wednesday night the Diefenbaker government is sabotaging the public sector of Canada's economy and Canada's place among nations.

Mr. Douglas said there has been a steady undermining by the Conservatives of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and Trans-Canada Air Lines.

"British, French and particularly American companies are buying out our airwaves," he said in an apparent reference to Toronto's independent television station, CFTO, in which the American Broadcasting Company is trying to buy a share.

He was addressing a crowd of more than 800 at the nominating convention of Toronto East York federal riding which acclaimed David Lewis as its candidate.

"If the Commonwealth were to disintegrate, the throne's most valuable modern function, the chief pillar on which it now rests, would disintegrate, too. It is difficult to believe that there could be any other result than the virtual disintegration of the throne itself."

The author of the Sunday Express article, Percy Howard, asks whether people really think Queen Elizabeth should be asked to join a "kind of panel" on a roster system along with Queen Juliana of The Netherlands, French president General de Gaulle and the presidents of Germany and Italy.

LAMENTS PROSPECT

The Daily Express joins its Sunday stablemate, lamenting the prospect that the Crown might be stripped of its majesty and glory to make way for a new order in Europe.

Another Conservative newspaper, The Daily Telegraph, is more hopeful. It notes that no depreciation of the dignity of the crown has taken place in Holland and Belgium, both EEC countries.

"As for the British crown, it is the most flexible political institution in the world, and it would be strange if the forms that framed without effort the tribal kingship of Alfred the Great, the feudal lordship of William the Conqueror, the benevolent despotism of the Tudors, the constitutional monarchy of the Hanoverians, and the representative queenhood of today could not be easily adapted to a partnership with like-minded European states."

Who Likes Cornpone?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Picture yourself flat on your back in a fallout shelter with nothing between you and starvation but a four-weeks' supply of cornpone.

That I'm sure you'll agree, would be a grim predicament for anyone to be in. As much as I like cornpone, I shudder at the thought of subsisting on it for a month.

But my feelings are nowhere near as intense as those of Rep. John J. Rooney, a Democrat from Brooklyn who seems to feel that a steady diet of this southern delicacy would be a fate even worse than death.

The possibility of using cornpone to feed the survivors of a nuclear war came up in testimony released by a House appropriations subcommittee.

It was suggested by Rep. Ben F. Jensen (R-Iowa), as a substitute for an agriculture department plan to store surplus government-owned wheat in large cities for use as emergency rations.

"We have about the same amount of corn in storage as we have wheat," Jensen pointed out. "Why would it not be smart to put ground corn in airtight gallon cans (and) store it in the bomb shelters?"

"By adding a little water and putting it in a skillet, you could have cornpone or cornbread... you could live on that for many a day."

Rooney, whose stomach must have been turning over, interrupted to inquire whether Jensen thought that corn "tastes better than wheat."

"Absolutely," Jensen replied. "Do you not eat cornbread here in the restaurant?"

"No, I never eat it," said Rooney. Apparently shocked by Rooney's heresy, Jensen said he had eaten "Iowa tall cornbread" every day for four years and had noted that "everybody likes cornbread."

"I don't," Rooney corrected. "You are an exception," said Jensen, deeply offended. "You are an exception on everything, John."

Rooney did not dispute the charge. "I probably would not like the wheat, either," he commented.

Some of the other subcommittee members shared Rooney's misgivings about the wheat storage plan. Their skepticism stemmed in part from testimony by agriculture department witnesses that wheat could be eaten raw "just by chewing it up."

HOME GARDEN

Proper Clipping Important

There appears to be three reasons why gardeners shy away from heathers, according to a man who specializes in these plants and grows nothing else.

The first is the belief that heathers (including the heaths) need a special soil, although those which flower in winter will grow well in any average garden soil, and the summer flowering kinds need only the same soil as rhododendrons and azaleas.

The second is the result of seeing ungainly and straggly plants in so many gardens because they have not been properly clipped.

All heathers need the flowering tips of the stems removed as the blossoms fade so that the new growths come from low down instead of on the top of the shoots beyond where the blossoms were borne.

The third is because so many heathers are lost due to improper planting. The heather is one plant which needs to be set deep into the soil so that the twiggy branches are covered to the level of the green leaves.

When set in this way there is no chance for frost to sneak in at soil level and split the stems a condition which causes the plants to die in the first warm spell when food and moisture cannot travel up the split stems to the leaves and buds.

Every heather smugly smiles when peat moss is pushed under the foliage at soil level to keep it snug from wintery blasts and icy fingers.

Ford Buys Philco To 'Broaden Out'

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Company, in an effort to diversify, plans to purchase the assets of Philco Corporation, one of the pioneer firms in radio, television and electronics. Ford and Philco directors said Wednesday they have agreed in principle. No price was disclosed.

The transaction, scheduled to be completed Nov. 30, is subject to approval by Philco stockholders and conditions of tax laws.

Under the agreement, Philco will become a wholly-owned subsidiary of Ford. Ford will take over Philco's assets and liabilities and will issue and deliver shares of Ford stock to Philco stockholders.

Henry Ford II, board chairman of Ford, said the purchase will enable his firm "to broaden operations, to provide entry into new fields and make possible a fuller participation by our company in the national defence and space effort."

The purchase agreement provides that Philco stockholders will receive one share of Ford common stock for each 4 1/2 shares of Philco. Preferred stockholders will receive—for each share of Philco—Ford stock of value equal to $101.50, plus cash for accrued and unpaid dividends. Exact ratios will be based on market value of Ford common stock shortly before completion of the transaction Nov. 30.

As of Sept. 1, there were 4,014,533 shares of Philco common and 100,000 shares of Philco preferred stock outstanding.

VICE CHARGES CRIPPLE CITY

NEWPORT, Ky. (UPI)—This northern Kentucky city, which for nearly a quarter of a century has been tagged one of the gambling centres of the east, was locked up tight today following the indictment of the mayor, city officials and eight police officers by a special grand jury.

The indictments were on charges of conspiring to allow prostitution, gambling and illegal liquor sales in the city.

The jury's action was the severest blow yet struck in the various investigations over several years in the community.

'Russ Rockets Accurate'

PRESIDENT—Election of composer William Schuman as the president of Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts in New York was announced Wednesday. Schuman, 1943 winner of the first Pulitzer Prize awarded for music, succeeds Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor. (AP Wirephoto).

The notion that no really effective civil defence is possible against nuclear attack is dangerous nonsense, a top atomic scientist says. This second of three articles discusses practical steps for protection against blast and fallout.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press
Science Writer

NEW YORK—Dr. Edward Teller has grave respect for the aim of Soviet rockets bearing nuclear warheads.

"They are accurate," says the University of California physicist.

They could hit assigned cities or military targets, unless anti-missiles or other defences brought them down.

Warning systems promise to sound about 20 minutes advance notice—time enough for most people to take shelter.

But—few shelters exist. Millions of people live in the fatalistic fear that if bombs fall, each will be directly underneath—or utterly doomed by radioactive winds and fallout.

Dr. Teller, whose genius contributed to fashioning the H-bomb, calls this dangerous nonsense.

OUTLINES ESSENTIALS

Sketching basic essentials for shelters, he says many regions of the U.S. would need only fallout shelters in basements for protection against radioactive clouds sweeping downwind from blasts.

The greatest danger would last only a few hours or a day, since radioactivity of the cloud declines rapidly with time and distance, he explains. Closed windows could keep out fallout radiation and make a sizeable difference. Fallout striking the ground or roof could be "hot" for longer periods. Stores of water and food could carry millions through the time of real hazard.

Simple shelters could be made of wood or sandbags, or dug into the foundation.

A prime need, everywhere, is for really cheap radiation detectors to judge hazards, and for battery-powered radios to hear official reports.

Suburban homes near big cities, on or near the fringes of blast areas, would need sturdier, more elaborate shelters to withstand shock and hotter radiation. Direct hits would wipe them out, but bombs won't fall everywhere like raindrops. Cheap but effective shelter designs are badly needed, Dr. Teller adds.

MASS SHELTERS SAFE

For big cities and towns, mass shelters are the safest answer, with enough of them "so people could walk to them in five to 10 minutes."

"Shelters should be sealable with fire doors. If subways were used, fire doors could keep air from being sucked out of tunnels and stations. Subways could be equipped this way in a matter of months with enough effort."

Basements of big buildings could provide shelter for millions of city dwellers, and future buildings should be built "to take as much over-pressure as possible," Dr. Teller says.

The Soviets talk about a prodigious bomb equal to 100 million tons of TNT, and Dr. Teller says this probably could cave in a shelter 200 feet deep if the bomb exploded on the ground close by. But such a bomb "is not a militarily useful thing," and he doubts the Soviets really mean to build it.

A prime requirement, he adds is for a well-planned organization for leadership of life in shelters, and afterward.

With underground stockpiling of food and strategic materials—and above-ground storage in areas not likely to be hit—the country would have the starting tools to get industry going again.

Tomorrow: Radiation hazards.

FERENC MUENNICH
... age 75, retires

War Spending Upped In Hungary Shakeup

BUDAPEST (AP)—Communist party chief Janos Kadar has again taken on the post of premier in a major government shakeup. He quickly announced an increase in Hungary's military spending.

Kadar took over the premiership from Ferenc Muennich, an old revolutionary. They had assumed power together when Russia crushed the Hungarian uprising of 1956.

The shakeup, announced Wednesday by the presidential council, boosts Kadar's status and puts him in the position of official government spokesman in the event of Hungary's participation in international negotiations. His dual role parallels that of Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet premier and party chief.

Kadar, 49, last held the two jobs in 1958, when he relinquished the premiership to Muennich.

Muennich appears ready for semi-retirement at the age of 75. He stepped down from the premier's job to minister of state. The government announcement said this and other changes were suggested by Kadar "to strengthen party and state leadership."

The boost in military spending was announced by the party central committee in a revision of the five-year plan that began this year. The announcement said the defence budget will be increased during 1961-65 by 25,000,000,000 forints ($2,000,000,000) at the official rate.

Kennedy Shoots At Underworld With New Laws

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy on Wednesday signed into law three bills to help combat the underworld's gambling and racketeering enterprises.

His brother, Attorney-General Robert F. Kennedy, who had asked for the measures, watched as the president affixed his signature to the tough new laws which:

1. Make it a felony to cross a state line or to use the mails or other interstate commerce facilities in gambling, liquor, prostitution and narcotics rackets.
2. Forbid the interstate smuggling of gambling paraphernalia.
3. Outlaw the interstate transmission by wire of bets and of racing or other information vital to bookmakers in their gambling operations. This aims a blow at the now mostly clandestine but legal race wires.

The suggestions, along with a $6,000 estimate for feting the city's pioneers, were referred to the centennial committee's finance subcommittee.

The decorative ideas include:
A giant illuminated "birthday cake" display in the Fountain Circle;
Translucent wrappings around cluster light globes to make them appear as giant candelabras of birthday candles;

Floodlighting of major landmarks such as Craigdarroch Castle, Christ Church Cathedral, City Hall and the Rock-land water tower;

Establishment of a downtown pedestrian mall that would be dressed up with a variety of decorations;

Creation of a color advisory service to encourage downtown merchants to use a specially selected centennial color when repainting their premises.

City planner Roderick Clark, subcommittee chairman, said most of the decorations would be available for use in subsequent years.

SAILOR COMMENDED

Able Seaman John F. Armstrong, of Victoria and Hazel, Sask., has received a commendation from the Chief of Naval Staff for his part in saving a friend from drowning.

AB Armstrong, 31, was swimming with three shipmates from the destroyer-escort HMCS St. Laurent, at Hawaii Beach, last March. All but one had left the water and got dressed when Armstrong heard a call for help.

He dived in fully clothed and went down 20 feet to find his shipmate partly unconscious from striking his head on the bottom of a boat.

Socred Defaulter Starts New Party

A Social Creditor who defaulted in last year's provincial election after disclosures of a prison record now is heading his own new political party.

Donald H. Riggan, 42, of Whalley, is leader of the United Reform Party which he is organizing on a national basis.

He won't enter provincial politics again.
Mr. Riggan was a Social Credit candidate in Delta last September. He was forced to withdraw at the last minute after the story of his prison term hit the headlines.

He claimed RCMP had planted him in an Alberta prison as an undercover agent to win the confidence of a "Nazi scientist."

But after the story was checked out and disputed, he admitted it was false.

Mr. Riggan claims the Social Credit party "tried to stifle my freedom of speech" when it refused to recognize him afterwards.

He formed his new party with the aid of young people who he said are discontented with present parties.

Mr. Riggan said his party would fight to preserve private enterprise. Its initial policies include a 10 per cent income tax cut, Canadian ownership of industry in the country, a national highway patrol and a coast guard.

"Social Credit nationally has no possibilities at all," he said. "Their doctrines are old fashioned. Something written 25 years ago doesn't fit into today's picture."

Medical Director Accepts New Post

Director of the B.C. welfare department's medical services Dr. George Wakefield has resigned to take a post at Vancouver General Hospital.

Dr. Wakefield will leave his Victoria post to become assistant medical director in Vancouver.

He has been with the B.C. government for 15 years, 11 of them with the tuberculosis control division.

It's Back to High School for 'Old Folks'

A new high school approach offering adults a chance to finish high school in the general program appears headed for spectacular success.

Alan Batey, principal of Greater Victoria school board's night division, said today he has been "swamped with telephone inquiries."

Classes in secondary school subjects under both the university program offered in previous years, and the general program, offered for the first time, begin at Victoria High School next week.

"Free counselling service by staff counsellors will be available each evening next week at the school to help the people find out which subjects they still need to finish their high school," Mr. Batey said.

About 175 registrations in both programs already have been made.

However, pleasure over the response to the new general program academic courses was

Rites Held Today For Mrs. Moore

Mass was celebrated today for native Victorian, Mrs. Eileen Jane Moore, who died Tuesday in her 69th year.

Funeral service for the Langford resident was held in Our Lady of the Rosary Church.

As a student in her youth, Mrs. Moore attended St. Ann's Academy and took an active part in music.

Besides the widower, Wesley Keating Moore, at home, 2567 Selwyn, there are four daughters, Mrs. F. W. Steel, Mrs. S. E. Artlen, Mrs. R. W. Bisset of Victoria, and Mrs. W. W. Bestwick, Nanaimo; and three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Robertson, Langford; Mrs. Dorothy Hubner, Winnipeg, and Mrs. Glen Rochfort, in England.

offset by astonishment at apathy shown towards another experimental night school course on the facts of the nuclear age.

The series of 20 lectures on Atomic Energy—Its Promises and Problems—is rated as an example of adult education at a "pretty mature level."

But registrations have been few and if more are not received it may have to be scrapped. The two-hour sessions involving 22 lecturers including Dr. Brock Chisholm, would be held Tuesday nights. Fee is $12 for the course.

Subject matter of the course would touch on radioactive isotopes and their medical uses, X-rays, medical aspects of radiation damage, effects on life on land and in the ocean, atomic energy for power, physics of the atomic bomb, nuclear weapons, civilian survival and demonstration of radioactivity measurement.

259 Ships Arrive This Year; Port Heading for New Record

Total of 259 deep-sea ships used the Ogden Point docks up to the end of August—24 more than for the same period last year. "It looks as if the port of Victoria is heading for its second successive record year," said Capt. G. Ronald Newell, harbor master.

During 1960 a record of 353 deep-sea ships totalling 2,728,697 tons loaded and unloaded cargoes.

"There are indications the trend established in the first seven months of this year will continue," Capt. Newell said. "So far during September, deep-sea ships have called at Victoria at an average of one a day."

40 Feared Drowned

BANKOK, Thailand (Reuters)—Forty persons, mostly women and children, are feared to have drowned in a sudden flood which hit the northern Thailand province of Chiang Rai Tuesday.

Grain shipments to the Orient in recent months have not been a major factor in the increased port business. The reason is that Victoria grain elevator for some time has been working at full capacity.

Lumber shipments are running ahead of last year, but no official figures are yet available. The biggest month so far this year was January, with 38 deep-sea vessels calling at the port.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Michael Gorzynski, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wladyslaw Gorzynski, 882 Cunningham, is in good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital today with head injuries suffered when he fell out of a tree Tuesday.

His parents said he was playing in an oak tree at the side of the house when he slipped and fell 25 feet on to some rocks below.

James Cooper, of Sooke, was fined $5 in Sooke court Tuesday for failing to have life jackets in his boat.

Mayor Percy Scurrell Wednesday said the city still is awaiting provincial government permission to sell several waterfront lots on Belleville to the department of transport as a site for a multi-million-dollar inner harbor development. A trust deed on the lots requires their preservation for use in an esplanade.

QUIET TODAY AND THEN... 'THERE THEY GO!'

Horses were watching inquisitively from stalls today as Sandown Park, serene for last 351 days, awoke sharply at dawn with sounds of preparation for action. By 1.15 p.m. (first post time) Friday all will be ready for the opening of 1961 Vancouver Island racing season. Extra two days of racing will be held this year, bringing to 16 days program which runs to Oct. 9. Junior totalizer and resurfaced track with banked turns are among improvements carried out by B.C. Jockey Club, under whose aegis Sandown operates for the first time. Seven races are scheduled for Friday and eight for Saturday's card.

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK—This was after the ball game. The people at the table were discussing Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris. It was as if the Yankees were playing two men to a side. Someone told Eli Grba that he was pitching Mantle the way most of the other guys in the league do. They seldom give him a good pitch. They keep the ball outside or very tight and, unless he hits their pitch, they're satisfied to walk him.

"How do you pitch Yogi Berra?" another guy wanted to know.

"You know Yogi," said Grba, "he's liable to hit anything."

There was a story in which Berra discussed retiring. I read that, and realized how far Berra has come. In my time, a more clumsy player never came into the big leagues. But once you saw him swing a bat you knew he would be around a long time.

The other night he broke quickly, running into the alcove in left field to make a spectacular catch of a drifting fly ball. He will not make them forget Joe DiMaggio as an outfielder but he plays left adequately and holds onto most of the fly balls he reaches. In a World Series, Bucky Harris, who managed the Yankees then, put him in right.

Yogi Smartest Hitter, Says Paul

It was embarrassing to watch him. Once Berra sat down after catching a fly ball, hugging it to his chest. The other players kidded him then. They said he played left field by turning to DiMaggio every time a ball was hit in his terrain. He gazed at DiMaggio with pleading eyes and shouted, "Come on, Joe." But Bill Dickey took him over and Berra didn't have to go into the outfield until his arm started to go bad. When he turned the catcher's job over to Elston Howard, Berra was the best in baseball.

He still is very important to the Yankees. The pitchers respect him. They know he can still hit the long ball and he improves as the game lengthens. It was my original theory that Berra was one of the great late-inning batters because he was stronger than most pitchers. They became tired and Berra didn't. Paul Richards disputes this.

"Yogi is the smartest hitter in the league," the ex-pilot of Baltimore told me. "The pitchers may fool him the first few times up. But he studies their patterns and catches on to them. By the time it gets into the eighth or ninth inning Yogi has them figured out."

No one would believe them when Berra arrived at Yankee Stadium that he would ever be called smart. The ball writers worked him over with gags defining his dumbness. The other ball players abused him with the ferocious wit of the dugout. Yogi took it all, and laughed at most of it. The only time I ever saw him angry on a ball field was one afternoon when he told Nellie Fox he would slug him if he didn't shut up.

It occurred when Berra advised the plate umpire he had made a bad call. Such arguments are generally left to the catcher and the manager. The hitter doesn't interfere. He has no reason to because the decision favors him. But Fox told Berra to stop complaining and Berra became infuriated.

Before the All-Star Game I sat with Berra and Cal Hubbard, the chief umpire of the American League, in a cafe of the St. Francis Hotel. The old umpire recalled a night at Yankee Stadium when Berra was bothering him with muttered protests.

"Remember I told you," Hubbard said, "that if you heeded once more, I'd put you out. I called the next pitch a ball. Do you remember what you did?"

"I made out I fainted," Yogi said.

"You fell over backwards," Hubbard said, "and I ran you. I said get out of here, you look like a mine mule whose harness is too big for you. Mad as I was, I couldn't help laughing."

"It was a strike," Yogi said, a dozen years later.

One of Wealthiest Men in Baseball

The bowling alley he owns with Phil Rizzuto in Clifton, N.J., is a lucrative proposition. He is the vice-president of Yoo Hoo Milk and his investments have been sound. He's one of the wealthiest men in baseball.

The small talk concerns Mantle and Maris this year. People wonder if Howard will lead the league in batting and how many games Whitey Ford will win. In the time-killing gossip of bar rooms, where a ball player's true fame is measured, they neglect Yogi. But the Yankees won 11 pennants with him, and this will be the 12th. He was a Yankee before any of them, and is the last of the old bunch.

He is old as ball players' ages are computed but I want him hitting for me when a blow is needed to move the winning run home late in the game. The younger guys are getting the play and that is the way baseball is. But even in his final seasons Yogi is still one of the great Yankees. In his first year they said he didn't belong because he didn't look like a Yankee.

Yogi has an answer for that too. He said no one ever played baseball with their face. As usual, Yogi was right.

NEW WESTMINSTER—Nine years is a long time to wait for a crack at the Canadian lacrosse championship and the Mann Cup. But the waiting finally ended Wednesday for Vancouver, 12-5 conquerors of New Westminster before 3,850 fans.

The success gave Vancouver the best-of-seven Western Canada series four games to one. It also gave Vancouver the right to play Brampton Ramblers in a best-of-seven final for the Mann silverware. The series opens in Vancouver Tuesday.

New names, new faces have come into the Vancouver picture since 1952 when Vancouver lost four successive games to Peterborough.

A year earlier, Peterborough also won the cup, rubbing Vancouver noses in a tight series which went to the seventh game.

If it's time for the worm to turn, Gordon Gimble might be the man to get the job done.

He scored four goals, assisted once, in Vancouver's victory over New Westminster. More important he stayed out of the penalty box, something New Westminster paid frequent visits to.

Ted Hunt and Bob Babcock supplemented Gimble's efforts, splitting four goals.

Defensively, Vancouver was given a fine night's work by ageing but agile Stan Joseph. He stopped 31 shots as did Les Norman, but Norman missed more.

One Vancouver player Brampton may not have to worry about is Pete Black. He suffered a possible broken wrist in the second quarter when he was checked against the boards.

Little Loop Soccer Little Soccer League players, eight and nine years of age, are asked to report to their nearest neighborhood park at 10 a.m. Saturday to register for the forthcoming season. Registrations will be accepted at these parks: Beacon Hill, Windsor, Bullen, Lansdowne, Central, Reynolds and Majestic.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The National Boxing Association's world championship committee has told heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson to defend his title against the number one NBA challenger within six months or lose the NBA crown.

READY FOR SANDOWN

Ol' Shudda Shouldn't Have Coffee Nerves

Shudda Haddim has done it again. He has accumulated enough money to again work his wondrous wagering system at Sandown Park.

Shudda, the self-styled peerless predictor, whose love for horses is such that Mrs. Haddim habitually commands his pay cheque, always has a rugged time hoarding enough silver to put his system to work.

This time he did it the hard way. Since the last Sandown meeting he has been skipping his morning cup of coffee and pocketing his dime allowance each working day. This morning he happily counted up a stake of $25 for mutual merriment.

Haddim, who announces his predictions in The Times, usually risks just one bet a day. Starting with a stake of $25 last year, he wound up with a profit of only five cents when a scratch caused numbers to be switched on the final day and cost poor Shudda a quinnella payoff of $130. The previous year, also starting with $25, he finished up with $20.65.

Shudda is gonna step cautiously out of the gate when bangtails start breezing Friday at Sandown, wagering $2 on Bella Mac to place in the fifth race.

GOOD NEWS FOR PATRICK

Talented Gridder Joins Drakes

Some days the news is good, on other days it's not so good.

Today is one of the brighter days in the trials and tribulations of the Victoria Drakes, whose main interest this season is to write a successful chapter in the Pacific Coast Intermediate Football Conference.

Coach Jack Patrick announced the acquisition of a seasoned and talented performer today.

He is Ian Stewart, a native of Vancouver, who recently moved to Victoria to continue his profession as a lawyer.

There seems to be no doubt in Patrick's mind that Stewart's presence will greatly benefit the Drakes. The football-chasing lawyer can double in the backfield, on defense or at end.

Stewart's football record is recommendation in itself. He was a regular with the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds and also played professionally, albeit briefly, with the B.C. Lions and Calgary Stampeders.

Stewart, who turned out to workouts this week, will probably play at end Saturday when Drakes tackle the unbeaten New Westminster Royals at Macdonald Park.

There was other good news today as Patrick prepared his charges for their most important game of the year ("we can't afford to lose any more now"). That came with the conditioning reports on fullback Pete Ash and quarterback Chuck Weeks.

Both missed last week's game against Seattle Ramblers because of injuries, but both are expected to play this Saturday.

Skip Montgomery, Drakes' sensational pass-catching rookie end, and fullback Gerry Porter will also return to the line-up. Their jobs kept them away from the park last Saturday.

'Carla' No Lady—Ask the M-Boys

Cincy's Jay Joins Elite 20-Game Club

Hurricane Carla has stuck a finger into that home run chase and both Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle figure the naughty miss has hampered their chances of surpassing Babe Ruth's record.

Carla tossed her fringe effects into the midwest Wednesday night, forcing postponement of the New York Yankees-Chicago White Sox game with Maris at bat in the third inning and causing the American League contest to be rescheduled as part of a doubleheader today.

"Somehow I've never done too well in doubleheaders," said Maris, the leader with 56 home runs and a three-game edge over Ruth's record 60 pace of 1927.

"I'd rather play them one game at a time," said Mantle, three games behind the Bambino with 53 homers.

While the Yanks were idle, the second-place Detroit Tigers took the opportunity to reduce the American League leaders' margin to 11 games by blanking Kansas City Athletics 8-0 behind Jim Bunning's five-hit pitching and home runs by Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash.

SNAP LOSING STREAK

Cleveland Indians snapped a six-game losing streak by beating Baltimore Orioles 5-0 on Gary Bell's four-hitter, and Washington Senators won two in a row for the first time since Aug. 17 by whipping Boston Red Sox 4-2.

Maris and Mantle each got to bat once before the all-day rain made the field unplayable in the third with the Yankees leading 2-1. Maris singled and Mantle fouled out to the catcher in the first inning.

The postponement left the Yanks' magic number at seven.

In the National League Jay, the little leaguer who became a big leaguer, savored his 20th victory and that last full measure of revenge after moving closer to their first National League pennant since 1940.

The 26-year-old righthander, discarded by Milwaukee Braves after he compiled an unspectacular 9-8 record last year, blanked his former teammates 4-0 with a four-hitter and became the first National League pitcher to win 20 this season.

Jay, one of those most responsible for Cincinnati's amazing rise from a sixth-place finish in 1960, joined Whitey Ford of New York Yankees and Frank Lary of Detroit Tigers as the majors' only 20-game winners with his fourth shut-out and 13th complete game.

He also scored the game's only run in the fifth inning, made it four victories without a defeat over his onetime mates and lowered the Reds' magic number to nine with the aid of Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Pirates, with reliever Harvey Haddix pitching two-hit ball over the final eight innings, beat second-place Los Angeles 8-2 and dropped the Dodgers five and one-half games back of the Reds. Any combination of nine Cincinnati victories and/or Los Angeles defeats will give the Reds' the NL flag.

San Francisco Giants moved into a tie for third place with the Braves by defeating the last-place Philadelphia Phillies 8-2.

FIRST SINCE '47

Jay 20-9, first Cincinnati hurler to enter the 20-game circle since Ewell Blackwell won 22 in 1947, handcuffed the team that signed him for $20,000 in 1953 and traded him to the Reds last winter. Jay scored the Reds' run on a two-out single by Vada Pinson.

Joe Carr Survives Flurry of Upsets

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Ireland's Joe Carr and Jack Nicklaus, 21-year-old former champion, were still in the running today for the U.S. national golf title after surviving Wednesday's two rounds of upsets.

Stars shunted to the sidelines Wednesday included Billy Joe Patton, Charlie Coe and Harvey Ward.

Nicklaus disposed of Bill Edwards 5 and 4 in the morning round over the 6,747-yard ocean-hugging Pebble Beach course, and then put out Dave Smith in the afternoon 2 and 1.

Carr had a relatively easy time in the morning with a 3 and 2 verdict over Urban Thompson. He had to fight all the way to beat Sam Marsh 2 and 1 in the afternoon.

The major upset victim of the fourth round was Patton. He eliminated Dan James in

OUTDOOR REPORT BY Doug Peden

Hopes are riding as high as Vancouver Island temperatures as riflemen wait for dawn to go up on Saturday's opening of another deer season.

Prospects for stocking the freezer with venison haven't been brighter in the past dozen years. Almost everyone is expecting a bumper season. Three mild winters have helped the deer, biologists say the deer population is dangerously high and scores of hunters came back from the first two weekends of grouse shooting with tales of seeing big, bold bucks.

That doesn't mean it is going to be easy to walk out and knock over a buck this weekend. It seldom is. There will be some fortunate ones, but you can expect the usual quota of disillusioned riflemen come Sunday night.

Unless we get a sudden break in the weather, the dry, noisy underbrush is going to rattle out a warning every time a guy draws a deep breath. And bucks old enough to grow respectable sets of antlers have a frustrating habit of suddenly becoming more cautious and crafty around the middle of September.

Things along the mowich trail could be disappointing for a while, but the overall picture has to be rated as excellent. A normal amount of rain and stormy weather later in the season could result in a record kill for the Island.

Still, we always have a fair number of hunters who fail to bag a buck, which starts a fellow to wondering how many of us would be better off sitting and waiting for deer to come to us or by trying to call them up.

In the right kind of cover and with good wind conditions, just sitting and watching can be a good way to hunt, particularly in dry weather. And you have to admit the system sure saves energy and shoe leather.

I've never had the patience to make it work, but I know men who have had success with a deer call. It can hardly be termed a new sport, but game-calling is a fast-growing hunting pastime in some parts of the continent.

Bringing game to you instead of seeking it out is a satisfying experience. Indians once used calls to put meat on the fire. They were good, and I reckon that when you are calling for your supper you could learn to lure in a halibut.

Game calls generally are of two types. One group, imitating the voice of the animal called, includes deer, moose, turkeys, ducks and geese—in general, the species sought for food.

The other, simulating something they eat, appeals to the predators, such as foxes, coyotes, bobcats and raccoons. Most of these imitate a rabbit screaming or a mouse squeaking. Records of actual animal voices can be obtained for practice.

Results of predator calling are often spectacular and it is not uncommon for a fox or coyote to approach within a few feet. Two Minnesota biologists found that three-fourths of the predators approached within 50 yards and half came within 50 feet. The best response was obtained after dark and in the hour before nightfall.

Now it seems we have another type of call—a hawk call that the manufacturers claim has helped quail hunters plagued by jittery coveys that flush out of range. Reports say that when a hunter's dog goes on point, a few blasts from a hawk call will freeze the covey, allowing the hunter to get within spitting distance before the quail flush.

Makes a guy wonder how a hawk call would work on some of those fast-stepping cock pheasants.

SHORT SHOTS: Probably the first moose to fall to Victoria hunters this season was bagged by Gary Moss and Dick Taylor last weekend. Hunting in the Palisade River country north of Kimberley last weekend, they knocked over a bull moose and cow elk, also saw dozens of white-tail deer. Tyee fishing was hot in front of Nahmint Bay last weekend. The fish were being taken well out in the Alberni Canal, which suggests the run was heading for the Soaness River. Sid Knott, Brian Andrew, Gerry Stewart and George Davis came back from Nahmint with a quartette of husky tyees, including two 47½-pounders. Commercial trollers have been doing a booming business in the Alberni Canal while some of the commercial boys off Sooke this week haven't even been making expenses.

Campbell River has been closed to salmon fishing from Elk Falls to the river mouth. Fishing from Sooke around to Sidney Island has been generally poor, with just an occasional spring, large coho and pink being boated. Saanich Inlet continues among the more consistent producers. Several limit catches—mainly jack springs and coho—are being taken. Wille Loo won a VSIAA coho button last weekend with a 15-pounder. Coho are showing off Cherry Point and Deep Cove and fishing for the silvers should pick up in Cowichan Bay. Lots of big springs have been rolling at Qualicum Bay but only a few are hitting lures.

RODIN SAYS

No Money ... No Play

TORONTO (CP)—Faced with a blank spot on the draw for the men's doubles after Roland Godin of Montreal pulled a surprise withdrawal Tuesday night, officials of the Canadian Tennis championships started scurrying around Wednesday for a replacement.

They came up with John Bassett Jr. of Toronto, 22, a Davis Cup player in 1959 and a former top-ranking junior.

On a few minutes' notice Bassett was on the court beside Henri Rochon of Montreal and the pair defeated Don Platt and Bob Jacob of Toronto, 6-8, 7-5, 6-4, in a first-round match.

Bassett replaced Godin after the Montrealer left the tournament over an expense account disagreement.

"I can't afford to stay," Godin said.

"These guys have been spoiled by the fabulous expense accounts they got when the breweries were sponsoring the tournament," Kirsten replied.

Godin was eliminated from the singles when he was upset 6-3, 6-8, 6-0, 6-0 by fellow Montrealer Mike Carpenter in second-round match Tuesday.

John Swann, fourth-seeded, made it into the men's singles quarter-finals Wednesday night in the most rugged match of the tournament so far.

After more than three hours he defeated Peer Lyman, 35, of Rochester, N.Y., unranked in Canada, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, 12-10.

Francis Godbout of Waterloo, Que., defeated Toronto's Don Fontana in straight sets and also moves into the quarter-finals. Score was 6-1, 6-3, 6-4.

Seven Share Top Pavoff

SEATTLE (AP)—Headed by top money-winner Gary Player, of South Africa, 109 professionals today started a four-day pursuit of $25,000 on a golf layout labelled "a thinking man's course" by Art Wall, Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa.

Site of the Greater Seattle Open tournament is the Broadmoor Golf Club, which yielded 21 sub-par scores Wednesday in a $5,000 pro-amateur team match.

Player and Wall each carded a 66 in Wednesday's tourney to tie with five others for first place. Also earning $339.29 shares in the top payoff were Miller Barber, Phil Rodgers, Al Gieberger, Jerry Magee, of Toronto, and Jerry Barber.

JUNIOR BOXLA ALL TIED UP

PORT CREDIT, Ont. (CP)—Hastings Legionnaires Wednesday night fought their way to a tie in the Minto Cup lacrosse final series by edging Burnaby Norburns 12-11.

The win, a hard victory in a game which could have gone either way right up to the last minute, brought the best-of-seven Canadian junior championship to 1-1 in games. Burnaby won the first Monday night.

PNE Abandons Plans For Hockey Facility

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Pacific National Exhibition in a surprise move Wednesday scrapped plans for a $2,300,000, 8,000-seat sports-livestock arena.

Instead, a special directors' meeting decided, a 3,500-seat livestock-only arena costing about $840,000 will be constructed.

The action follows more than a year of city council pressure to have the building plans scrapped or scaled down.

President Dr. J. C. Berry of the PNE said the organization will lend its support to a committee studying a downtown coliseum.

FULL TORONTO TRADING

MARKET SUMMARIES

Prices Off in Toronto Trading

Prices off in almost all groups accounted for a decline in prices today on the Toronto stock market.

Walker-Gooderham led with the biggest individual fall while trading ex-dividend 40 cents, down 3 1/2 to 5 1/2 in heavy volume. This followed company details Wednesday of a rumored stock split.

Refining oils, foods and utilities were all weak. In oils, Canadian Husky, Canadian Oil, Imperial, Interprovincial and Trans-Mountain all slipped in the 1/4 to 1/2 range, while in foods, Loblaw, A. and B. Oshawa Wholesale and Hardee Farms all fell in a like range.

Prices also sagged in quiet trading at New York. Losses were slight in most cases with only a few running out to a point of more.

as stocks fell on the stock exchange today. Trading was light among the industrials and active among the mines.

AT LONDON unsettled and irregular conditions prevailed on the stock market today.

British petroleum shares were lower on balance reflecting a fall in profits.

Steel shares were down at the opening on news that steel production was lower in August. Most prices staged a good recovery later.

Industrial leaders recorded a number of losses. Motors were dull.

In shipping shares, Cunard was a bright spot on unconfirmed reports that they may merge with P. & O. Orient.

Gold and tin shares were quietly firm but copper was neglected.

AT VANCOUVER Granduc fell to 2.71, Ulica stood at 55. Pacific Nickel moved quickly up to 94, Bethlehem Copper was at 98, Craigmont sold at 15 1/2 and Canam Copper was at 15 1/2. Trans-Mountain Pipeline was worth 14 1/2. Crown Zellerbach traded at 22 1/2 and B.C. Telephone moved at 49 1/2.

B-A Appointment

D. I. WATSON

The British-American Oil Company Limited has announced the appointment of D. I. Watson, as Special Products Representative, with headquarters in Vancouver.

Mr. Watson, who will be responsible for the marketing of liquid petroleum products and sulphur in the West Coast area, is a graduate in engineering of McGill University. He joined B.A. in 1956 and most recently was a member of the company's Pacific Division.

'Examine Trade Policy'

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Eric W. Kierans, president of the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges, says it is time for Canada to shake off its unsentimental conservatism and to apply for associate membership in the European Common Market.

He warned that Canada needs a fundamental reassessment of her commercial policy. He told the Maritime conference of Canadian Clubs that the forthcoming talks which "should eventually lead" to Great Britain's admission to the E.C.M. market "will force the most serious re-examination of our commercial policy in all our history."

Mr. Kierans said Canada can neither quarrel with the economic and trading changes going on in the world nor can it prevent them. Canada should not try to turn back the clock by attempting to maintain an imperial preferential tariff system that had gradually declined in importance over the years.

AT NEW YORK Walker Gooderham took a loss of 2 1/2 among Canadian issues listed on the stock exchange. International Nickel was off 1/4 and Distillers Seagrams 1/4. Aluminum Ltd. was up 1/4. Hudson Bay Mining and McIntyre Porcupine advanced 1/4.

American stock exchange prices were irregularly lower in active dealing. Shawinigan advanced 1/4; Canadian Marconi, Jupiter Oils and Scurry Rainbow Oil 1/4; Preston declined 1/16.

AT MONTREAL papers registered a 1.2 index decline.

Duty-Free Entry Urged

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Pulp and Paper Association has asked Ottawa to seek duty-free entry of Canadian pulp and paper into the Common Market, president R. M. Fowler of Montreal said Wednesday.

Mr. Fowler said the rapid economic growth of Europe will increase substantially the demand for forest products and Canada can get more of this market if trade is not artificially restricted by tariffs and quotas.

Such tariffs and quotas against outside imports were being introduced in the Common Market and their extension to Britain would hamper Canada's existing trade.

However, the association felt there was no point in Canada trying to stop Britain from joining the Common Market. The weight of economic forces would likely compel Britain to join it.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — The flax market showed some improvement in an otherwise dull session today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

No export business in flax was confirmed although overseas and United States interests were steady buyers. Better linseed oil prices abroad were reflected in the market here.

Oats and barley trading was dull with domestic shipping interests providing most of the trading.

Rye prices turned stronger with reports that West Germany might be in the market for Canadian rye.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat were: United Kingdom 1,123,000 bushels, Algeria 386,000 bushels, Italy 113,000 bushels, Germany 77,000 bushels, Netherlands 71,000 bushels, Switzerland 20,000 bushels.

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market rallied in the early afternoon today, but corn and soybean contracts were generally weak.

Wheat and rye posted small gains in spots. Oats attracted a little better support. Declines took more than a cent a bushel in corn.

Flying Saucer Project Dropped

TORONTO (UPI) — An estimated $10 million project to build a flying saucer for the U.S. army and air force has been scrapped, it was reported today.

The experimental "Avrocar" designed by London-born engineer John Frost and built here by A. V. Roe Ltd., was produced to gain knowledge about vertical takeoff aircraft and the "ground cushion" principle in which a craft skims close to the ground.

Frost, 45, told the Toronto Telegram that the decision to stop work on the saucer was reached last month because funds for the project were cut off by the U.S. army.

It was estimated that about $10 million had been poured into the project by the U.S. army and air force since it got under way three years ago.

Frost said he believed the funds were cut off because "the Americans had got all they wanted out of our experiments." Frost said he had resigned from A. V. Roe "because there is no work left for me to do." He said he had designed a second "saucer" which had been undergoing tests at the Ames research centre in California.

The Telegram said the project was halted because U.S. officials felt it had not advanced fast enough.

SPRING BAN IMPOSED ON CAMPBELL RIVER

A six-week ban on spring salmon fishing is being imposed on the Campbell River. Recreation Minister Earle Westwood said Wednesday the closure, from midnight tonight to Oct. 31, was requested by the federal fisheries department. There is no limit on any other fish in the closed section closed to spring from Elk Falls to the mouth of the river. "The return of spring has been very low this year," said a game and fish branch official. "That is the reason for the closure."

N. Cowichan Election Assured

NORTH COWICHAN—A contest for two seats on North Cowichan municipal council has been assured by the announcement of a third candidate for election in December.

Already announced as candidates were Coun. Reginald Clegg of Westholme and Mrs. Elaine Dobbyn of the southern portion of the municipality near Duncan.

Third candidate to announce his intention is David A. Barr, a retired businessman living on Jaynes Road, also in the southern portion of the municipality.

Council was divided on a north-south line earlier this year over the contentious Cowichan Hospital issue, with the northern, or Chemainus, area dominating.

Chemainus Ratepayers' Association has promised a full slate of candidates for the election, but nomination of two "south end" residents indicates the balance of power on council could change.

Two-year term of Reeve Donald Morton, also of the south end, will expire this year. It is not known yet whether he or others will seek the office.

LADYSMITH—Corporate size of the village grew seven times and $1½ million was added to the tax roll with the stroke of a pen in Victoria this week.

An order-in-council was passed by the provincial cabinet granting the expansion of Ladysmith from 220 acres to more than 1,500 acres, embracing about 1,000 additional taxpayers to the village's former 2,000.

Once a major Vancouver Island centre the village declined with collapse of the coal industry, but has regained a place in the economy through the logging industry.

Annexation has been sought by Ladysmith for considerable time and was approved by outside taxpayers.

Chamber of Commerce president Stanley Hays praised the move and called for maximum attendance at a town planning meeting set for Oct. 10.

The chamber plans to press for an access road to Ladysmith small boat basin and increased tourist trade in the town.

Lion Stew Still Boils; Internal Feud Admitted

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver football stewpot continued at a rapid boil Wednesday in the wake of the firing of Wayne Robinson as head coach of the luckless B.C. Lions who haven't won a game all season.

In the two days since suspension of Robinson and his replacement with 32-year-old former Lion backfield coach Dave Skrien, these developments have occurred:

Two executive officers of the Lion directorate—president Ralph Henderson and vice-president Alan Eyre—admitted there had been internal strife, particularly between Robinson and club general manager Herb Capozzi.

Bill Boivin, former general manager of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers who was instrumental in bringing Robinson to Lions two years ago, resigned from the Lions directorate following the firing of Robinson.

Coach Skrien, now the youngest coach in Canadian football, made some defensive changes as the club prepared to leave Wednesday night for Winnipeg and a game with Blue Bombers tonight.

TOUGH SPOT
Skrien admitted that taking over Lions at this stage was something akin to "being made captain of the Titanic after it hit the iceberg."

"But remember," Skrien told an interviewer, "I took this job with full knowledge of the situation; I know what I have to face."

He added that he would not have stayed with Lions if another coach had been brought in. He had always had ambitions to become a head coach "and if Lions had not thought I was ready to step up in this situation, there would be no future for me here, no point in my waiting for the next opening."

FIRST MAN
Robinson, who expressed disappointment at being suspended, recommended Skrien for the job. Skrien was the first man he hired after becoming Lion coach in 1959.

Meanwhile Capozzi said there has been no discussion with Robinson yet as to his future. The former Winnipeg assistant coach still has 2½ years to run on a four-year contract said to call for $20,000 a year.

In a question and answer session, Lion president Henderson and vice-president Eyre said Robinson complained from time to time of interference and the rift mainly was between Robinson and Capozzi.

As for the terms of reference for Robinson and Capozzi, Eyre said "the club is the responsibility of the general manager and the team is the responsibility of the head coach."

Eyre said the head coach never complained about the budget being too low and there had never been a major rift between the head coach and the directorate.

In quitting the directorate Mr. Boivin was "critical of the way the club is organized."

A PERSONAL NOTE TO PARENTS...

SCHOOL'S OUT...NEXT STOP, "MY BANK"

Back to school means—among other things—back to that wonderful happy feeling that comes each Friday when school's out and the weekend lies ahead.

For many children, Friday after school is also the time to make a stop to add to their personal savings store at the Bank of Montreal. "My Bank" keeps a special school wicket open just for this purpose. One of our most pleasant duties is to help these happy youngsters put into action habits of thrift their parents and teachers have encouraged.

Fridays see important things happening in the B of M. Things that pay off in later life. If your youngsters aren't part of this scene, why not encourage them to open an account at the school wicket this Friday?

TRIAL FOR MURDER ORDERED IN QUEBEC CAR BOMB SLAYING

MONTMAGNY, Que. (CP) — Joseph Letourneau, 63-year-old electrician, Wednesday was ordered to trial on a charge of murder in the bomb slaying of Charles Baillargeon, Aug. 15.

Baillargeon was blown up by a bomb he found on the seat of his jeep at his farm in nearby St. Pierre.

Two U.S. Students Held as 'Smugglers'

(CP From AP-Reuters) BERLIN — Two Americans touring Europe are being held by Communist authorities on charges of trying to smuggle an East German woman into West Berlin.

Victor Pankey and Gilbert Ferrey, both 20, of Tustin, Calif., were accused of hiding the woman in the luggage compartment of a small German car while visiting East Berlin.

The East German interior ministry—quoted by the ADN news agency—said Wednesday night they were picked up at the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint, the only one open for foreigners in the divided city.

The two college students were taking a vacation in Europe before returning to their classes in the United States.

A Briton and a Dutchman also were reported seized by the Communists in what they charged were separate attempts to bring out three East Berliners described only as "female persons."

The Briton, Bernhard Col-

left, 30, was charged with trying to kidnap a woman by hiding her in the luggage compartment of his car. The Dutchman, Henri J. Pierrot, 55, was accused of trying to get a woman across the border on his wife's passport.

East German officials said all four would be handed over to Communist courts for trial.

East Berlin police hurled two tear gas bombs Wednesday at a West Berlin loudspeaker truck on Western side of the border—but the West Berliners fired them right back into Communist territory.

Ernst Lemmer, West Germany's minister for all-German affairs, said a wave of political arrests is sweeping East Germany. He said the daily number of refugees escaping to the West is still "in three figures" despite the barriers put up by the East Germans.

Firefighters Gaining On Salt Spring Blaze

Under Control Later Today, Says Official

A 700-acre forest fire which "exploded" Wednesday on a Salt Spring Island mountain side is expected to be under control late today.

Thirty men with tractors and four mobile water tankers are battling the blaze on Mount Tuam on the southern end of the island.

Flames flashed from 10 acres to 100 acres within about 10 minutes of the time they were first spotted by a nearby Forest Service lookout on Mount Bruce at 1:10 p.m. Wednesday.

Intense heat of the flames, fed by extremely dry scrub and old logging slash, made it difficult to fight, as water evaporated almost immediately.

There is no threat to homes, farms or livestock, according to reports from the scene, although local farmers have a number of sheep grazing on Mount Tuam.

Smoke today covered a large area of the island, and overnight the flashes of flame and dense smoke were visible from many points on Vancouver Island.

A crowd gathered on Lands End Road near Deep Cove to watch the "show."

But firefighters were making good progress today, attacking a series of small hot spots on the mountain.

"We believe it should be brought under control very rapidly today," said a forest service official.

The fire now is burning down the mountain, away from a department of transport radio relay tower on the summit.

ESQUIMALT SHIPS CRUNCH

There were no injuries in either ship and the frigate escaped damage, according to a statement issued by Pacific Naval Command.

It was reported the bows of the two ships came together above the waterline.

The destroyer escort was secured in her berth at the time.

Ste. Therese is commanded by Lieut.-Cmdr. Arthur G. Murray, of Toronto and Halifax, who was on the bridge at the time of the collision.

CENTENNIAL PROJECT

City Hall Plan Praised - Hydro HQ Still Eyed

By JOHN MIKA

Victoria centennial committee recommendation for a new $1,200,000 City Hall across Blanshard from the new Law Courts building was generally praised today, but negotiations will continue for acquisition of the B.C. Hydro building as a civic headquarters.

The proposed building was the biggest item in a three-stage program recommended by the committee to this afternoon's meeting of city council. Also included are development of the Cathedral Hill civic precinct and establishment of a city museum and archives.

Aldermen were expected to turn the proposal over to their 18-month-old City Hall study committee for an early report.

CHAIRMAN PLEASED
Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of that committee, said he was pleased that need for a City Hall was given full recognition.

"We certainly will have a meeting soon, if council refers the plan to us, to see how it can best be implemented."

"But personally, I still think we will continue to try to get the B.C. Hydro building as a City Hall."

Mayor Percy Scourrah, agreeing with Ald. Dowell, said informal negotiations for the Hydro building have been made "on the basis that we will pay the appraised value of the building. We are not asking something for nothing from the government."

FIRST PREFERENCE
Ald. Dowell said he felt acquisition of the B.C. Hydro building was the first preference, with a new building as the alternative, because: It would be more economic, could be put into actual use during the centennial celebrations and was ideally located in the civic precinct area.

If negotiations fail, then the city should proceed with construction of a new building, he said.

Meanwhile, guarded response came from school board chairman W. C. Gelling to a centennial committee suggestion that the school board could help pay part of a new building's cost in return for accommodation at a nominal rent.

"The board would need a tangible proposal before it could even consider such a question," he said.

MAKES FOR ECONOMY
Mayor Scourrah told the committee putting the school board and city staffs under one roof would make maintenance costs more economical.

But he stressed its greatest importance would be freeing of Craigdarroch Castle for the third stage of the centennial program—development of a museum tourist attraction.

Ald. Dowell said it was probably true the school board could not be accommodated in the B.C. Hydro building along with city staff. But, he pointed out, if the board builds new quarters for itself, as expected, the castle will become available anyway.

The centennial committee's proposal called for expenditure of some $400,000 to acquire and landscape the Cathedral Hill civic precinct as proposed earlier this year by the planning commission.

PROPERTY NEEDED
The precinct proposal involves acquisition of private property in the block bounded by Blanshard, Burdett, Quadra and Broughton and renaming it Centennial Square.

It would enable creation of a plaza around the Royal Theatre (possibly to become a civic auditorium in the future) and the planned new Y.M.Y.V.C.A. building.

Markers in Pioneer Square would be restored, Rockland Avenue alongside Christ Church Cathedral closed and a complementary park established across Quadra Street in front of Pioneer Square and the cathedral.

MONEY BYLAW
If city council decides to go ahead with the total project, it would have to schedule a money bylaw for ratepayer approval—probably at the civic election Dec. 14.

Mayor Scourrah said he expected the provincial government, strongly in favor of the civic precinct proposal because it adjoins the Law Courts, would contribute a substantial portion of the land acquisition costs.

Communist, No! But Small 'I' Liberal, Yes!
W. A. "Bill" Scott, who interrupted a stormy Socialist meeting Tuesday night, today described himself as a "non-conformist" with a leaning towards "mild liberalism" and "true socialism."

"At various times I have publicly admitted to being a crackpot, a Socialist and a small 'I' Liberal. But I am not prepared to admit to being a Communist. Nor are any of my friends."

3 Student Council Men Quit Posts
Surprise resignation of three top students' council officials was tendered at the first assembly of the new student body of Victoria College this morning at the Gordon Head auditorium.

No reasons were given. The students' council is the governing executive of the 1,650-member Alma Mater Society which includes all registered students at the college.

Karl Wyle, president of the students' council; Malcolm Potts, vice-president; and Peter Chapman, president of the Men's Undergraduate Society, announced their resignations at a meeting called to hear welcoming addresses from Judge J. B. Clearhough, chairman of the college council, and Dr. Harry Hickman, Victoria College principal.

During the introduction of students' council members after the main speakers had made their speeches, Mr. Wyle indicated that extraordinary business was at hand, and the three resignations were tendered.

MOUNTAIN WEARS FIERY CROWN

Vast column of smoke poured skyward from flames engulfing large part of western slope of Mount Tuam, at south end of Salt Spring Island. Fire broke out Wednesday in logging slash and second growth timber. Barely visible behind TCA Vanguard in

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, SEPT. 14, 1961—PAGE 17

... HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

It seems that Rudyard Kipling had a high old time of it when he visited Victoria back in 1907.

The Silver Threads Club has unearthed a poem he wrote here in November of that year. In it he refers to a "night out" with the late John Virtue, then proprietor of the Oak Bay Hotel. Part of it goes:

A rickety staircase, hard to climb,
But I rested often; I'd lots of time.
An awkward keyhole, a misplaced chair,
Informed my wife that I was there.

There are four more verses along the same theme.

Canada and the United States should have been developed up and down "in strips," says Bob Orrell from San Francisco. "The truth is," he said, "we people of California have more in common with you folks in B.C. than we have with Americans in New York and Washington."

"This whole Pacific Coast strip could have been a country in itself."

And it very nearly was!

It's never too late to be prepared.
A 93-year-old man tells me he has just installed a nuclear fallout shelter in the basement for himself and his wife.

"Frankly I don't think they'll ever use those damn things," he said, "but I believe in being prepared."

A local builder was touched by my story of the young Danish plumber who couldn't find work in Victoria, and offered to help.

He added, ironically, that many European craftsmen are too thorough for North America.

"The emphasis today is on speed rather than quality. And that is a direct result of high wages. Employers want the maximum of work in the absolute minimum of hours. It is a sad commentary on the times."

Around Town... Purchasers at Humboldt Street liquor store were startled when the figure $504 popped up on a cash register. It was the week's supply for a large party of American fishermen heading up-Island.

Quite a mixup at the old courthouse Wednesday afternoon—the small debts court was held in appeal court, the exchequer court in the small debts court, and a divorce case was heard in county court.

Oh, for that new courthouse!

DR. KEENLEYSIDE ... to Kootenays

Hydro Chief To Attend Hearings

B.C. Power Commission chairman Dr. H. L. Keenleyside will attend public hearings in the Kootenays next week on the Columbia River power project.

The hearings are part of the process in the commission's application to the B.C. water rights branch for a licence to build three dams on the Columbia—Mica Creek, Arrow and Duncan lakes.

Hearings open Monday at Revelstoke, with other meetings at Kaslo, Nakusp and Castlegar.

Travelling with Dr. Keenleyside will be a team of technical officials who have worked on the commission's plans.

DROVE PUMPER

Former City Smoke-Eater Visits 'Shrine'

By HAL JONES

Almost everyone has seen "The Redfern Pumper"—that venerable piece of fire fighting equipment enclosed in a glass case outside Victoria Fire Department's No. 1 Hall on Yates Street—but few have seen it in action.

Seventy-three-year-old Albert Waring of Richmond, Calif., has not only seen it—he was its driver from 1906 to 1909.

Visiting the city today, Mr. Waring was busy—recalling memories for the benefit of city firemen, of the days when fire pumps were horse drawn.

Looking through some of the department's dusty, brown and half-forgotten photographs he had little difficulty in identifying the men he worked with 55 years ago.

JOINED AS DRIVER

Born in Alberni of pioneer stock, he joined Victoria Fire Department as a driver in 1906 at the age of 18. He was stationed at the old fire headquarters on Cormorant Street, which at that time had 21 men and six pieces of equipment (including the fire chief's buggy). Fire chief was Tom Watson.

"The Redfern was a pretty good piece of equipment in those days," said Mr. Waring. "Then there was also 'The Grant' and 'The Deluge', the other two horse-drawn pumps."

"These heavy pieces of equipment were used only in the business district."

"The Redfern used to be drawn by a pair of horses named Prince and Bleucher. Prince was the pride of the fire department."

Biggest fire Mr. Waring remembers was one which destroyed the area around lower Chatham Street in 1908.

FABULOUS LILLIAN

But the proudest day during his life in Victoria was when the famous actress Lillian Russell rode beside him on the Redfern in the May 24 parade.

"She was said to be the most beautiful woman in the world."

"I met her while on duty in the old Opera House and she asked me to take her in the parade with me," Mr. Waring recalled.

"We were the chief attraction that day," he chuckled. Mr. Waring married a Victoria girl, Julia Jones, in 1914 and left shortly afterwards for California where he went into the construction business. He retired five years ago.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Could you please tell me, is it legal to use a .22 rim-fire rifle to shoot grouse?—M.C.D.

A. Yes. Blue and willow grouse are the only game birds which may be legally shot with a rifle. There is no restriction on calibre of the rifle.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times." Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve problems of legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

INUNDATED with inquiries are three officials of Victoria College, seen here just before the college's opening assembly at Gordon Head this morning. Wearing academic

Make Her Style-Conscious With a Gift of Pearls

By PENNY SAVER

First signs of growing up in a young daughter will undoubtedly include time when she wistfully sets aside her inexpensive childish jewelry and demands something better. When this day comes, set her feet firmly on the path of good style awareness by getting some jewelry that features culture pearls. Thanks to modern science, it won't cost you a fortune.

Always dear to a young heart are pearl pendants that look just as attractive when worn with a sweater as with a first grown-up party dress. One I saw this week is on a slender gold-filled chain and is a real bargain at $5.75. Others sell for as little as $3.50.

If earrings are what she's set her heart on, why not get her a pair of culture pearl earrings that are the epitome of good taste. Ones I've seen are set in a small leaf design, wrought in sterling silver and studded with tiny rhinestones. To complete the look of elegance, there's a matching brooch that comes in popular sunburst design, decorated with six brilliant pearls. Earrings sell at $3 a pair while brooch is listed at $7.50.

There's another set that will bring delight to any young Miss. This one sells at $7.50 and has a culture pearl pendant set on a dainty sterling silver chain. Tiny matching earrings are included.

If you have a young daughter who's ready for her first piece of really grown-up jewelry phone Penny at EV 2-3131 for the name of store where she shopped today.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Not all women have the time or the money to spend hours in beauty salons having various beauty treatments. Yet every woman would like to have the results of such treatments. Fortunately, you can accomplish a lot at home.

An important part of a self-applied home beauty treatment consists of taking advantage of practices which one normally takes for granted. For instance, the way you do your housework can make the difference between energy and fatigue, and between figure-molding and figure-damaging exercise.

Hold your abdomen in as you walk about your home. Every little while pull the abdomen back toward your backbone and hold the muscles there while you count to 10. Keep the back straight.

When you pick things up from the floor, either go into a deep knee bend with a straight back, or bend from the waist. When you bend over to make beds, keep your back flat and bend from the waist and make the reach an exercise.

Your daily bath can be a real basis for beauty. It can be a slap-dash affair or a real beautifier, rivaling the treatments an expensive salon can achieve. First, find the time of day when you have the most time to devote to this important beauty basic.

If your hair needs some in-between shampoo setting, before your bath is a good time to do it. Wash your face and neck with warm soap suds, rinse and dry. Then apply some good lubricating cream. It will sink in more, effectively while you soak in the hot tub.

A long-handled bath brush will be a valuable assistant. The skin of the body needs much more than gentle cleansing in order to carry away dead cells and waste products and bring the blood tingling

DEAR ABBY

Reverse Twist!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I'm small, but I have a question to ask. Don't you think a woman who claims to be a good friend should entertain her "good friends" in her living room. Whenever I visit this person she leads me right to the kitchen!

She puts the coffee pot on and we sit there all during my stay. She has a lovely home, a beautiful coffee service and gorgeous dishes, but all I ever see is her kitchen and every-day dishes. Am I wrong?

DEAR INSULTED: No. Your friend was wrong to assume that you were a person with whom she could be herself without fuss or frills. You should feel flattered, not insulted.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to point out to MRS. CITIZEN, who thinks our country is going to the dogs because our teen-age girls try to look older, that this is not nearly so offensive as some of our big, fat, grey-haired old women who appear in public with bare backs, skin-tight Capri pants, and shorts so short they disappear when the women sit down. When mothers (and grandmothers) start dressing their age, perhaps our teenagers will have an example worth following.

C.S.M.

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with our Daddy? Our mother passed away last April. After the funeral I went back home, as I am married. My brother went back to college. When we came back, almost six months later, we found all of Mamma's clothes, shoes, hats, and purses just like she was on a visit somewhere and was coming back to wear them. We would feel better if Daddy cleaned out the drawers and closets and got rid of these sad reminders. Should we tell Daddy to do this? He feels bad enough, and we hate to make him feel worse.

JEAN AND JOE.

DEAR JEAN AND JOE: For the moment, don't say anything. Your Daddy might decide soon himself that he wants to get rid of the reminders. If a year passes, and nothing is moved, suggest Mamma's room be painted another color, and her things given to someone who can get some good use out of them. If he resists your suggestions, don't press it.

Singing Colors Add Zip to Today's Fall Showing

Vibrant colors set keynote of gaiety at showing of fall fashions, sponsored by the St. Ann's Alumnae in Hudson's Bay Douglas Room this afternoon. Rich, singing color spilled over from the exciting styles into shoes that came in shades of magenta, winter green, rust and imperial blue to point up their matching outfits.

This season's darling, glowing magenta, was seen in oval caped coat worn by Florence Walther that breathed of elegance with its colossal collar and plushy textured fabric. Brilliant rhinestones gleamed from winter white hat of mink mousse.

Styled for any hour of the day was the Brenner suit in burnished tones of copper and black modelled by Doris Usher. Jacket featured the demi-fit look and expert tailoring was obvious in the use of miraculously-fitted curved seams.

BREATHTAKING

One show-stopper was the sports outfit designed by Miss Sup Valley in classic black and white and worn by Brenda-Lee MacBeath. Skirt, in new flared wedge look, was an eye-catcher in giant-sized houndstooth check. Top—of black wool jersey featured a high neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves and was highlighted with a matching tasselled sash.

Italian designer Luisa Spagnoli was well represented by the subtly styled afternoon dress of black wool jersey chosen by Lydia Mawson.

Texture interest was to the fore in pure wool ensemble worn by June Charlton. Imported from Denmark—it combined chocolate and almond in a Jacquard pattern. The short-sleeved sheath had a square neckline and narrow belt. Matching jacket featured a notched collar and mother-of-pearl buttons. The model's draped turban of brushed beaver was an exciting complement.

Proth was the name of the intriguing coat used in the peau de soie gown worn by Helen Beirnes that leaned heavily on the Jackie Kennedy look. The flared skirt tipped the ankles while the fitted bodice had straps and squared neckline so often associated with Mrs. Kennedy's wardrobe. The bodice eased at the hipline to capture the relaxed look.

Making her modelling debut was the petite dark-haired "bride" in the breathtaking finale, Pat Noels. Her exquisite gown of paper taffeta was rich with appliques of Alencon lace and distinctive for the Infanta line achieved by stiffened panniers at the hipline. The three-tiered veil of silk illusion tulle ruffled from a Swan Lake coronet of taffeta and pearls.

As "mother of the bride," Sybil Bafeman was gracious in a ginger-toned gown by Luisa Spagnoli. Fashions were all by the Bay.

Five more shows will be presented. These will be at 11 a.m., Friday, Women's Association; 11 a.m., Saturday, Victoria Branch of the Pharmaceutical Society; 2:30 p.m., Friday, Arbutus Toastmistress Club; 7 p.m., Friday, Ladies' Auxiliary; 7 p.m., Saturday, Victoria Theatre Guild.

Original Look—Around the Clock

Daytime clothes that with proper accessories go anywhere; day into evening suits and dresses; twilight to moonlight gowns in short and long lengths; tall crowned hats and exciting accessories, were all on the fashion menu served to Victoria's style-conscious women in the Empress Hotel, Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The fashion extravaganza, presented by Gibson's Ladies' Wear and sponsored by the Robert Burns McKicking Chapter, IOOE, featured original ensembles from the couturier houses of Europe, Canada, United States and Australia, as well as many smart, inexpensive dresses and hats for wear around the clock.

Mannequins strolled on a runway arranged as a Victoria street scene, with cluster light standards and hanging baskets and at the back of the dais, a sketch of the Parliament Buildings, with the dome outlined in twinkling lights.

YEAR'S COME-BACK

Creating interest was the princess line, with a 1961 shape, presented as "the year's come-back". It was outstanding in a sheath coat with rounded shoulders and slim matching dress.

"A Paris copy with an import look" was description of a violet boucle coat with wool plaid fringed stole. The "cape-look" was also presented in coats and the "three-piece look" in suits.

Day into evening suits were shown in fine tweeds and soft wools, and in a "mixed bouquet" of jacket and slender dress.

The "roaring 20's" came back in a slender, short-length dress for early evening, that with a flip of the skirt showed it really belonged to the jet age.

FOR EVENING

A silk damask suit with a mink "necklace" and matching fur hat was a highlight, also a black sheath-sparkling with jet and the "round-the-world" dress for twilight to moonlight wear. In black and gold brocade it was styled with short cocktail dress in the brocade and long tie-on skirt in black lined with the brocade and open at the front. This skirt doubled as a cape.

Hats were tall for daytime wear; jeweled for early evening and furred for special occasions.

Colors vied with the rainbow in such exciting ensembles as bitter sweet chocolate, space blue, autumn haze, nasturtium pink, parrot green, sun dazled orange and moonlight cream. The more conservative black gown was much in evidence, also many exciting white ensembles.

The new autumn and winter silhouette for the young co-ed set was described as the "Gibson-Girl" look in skirts and sweaters, play clothes and suits and dresses for every occasion on or off the campus.

Extravaganza ended with a showing of exquisite gowns to the bride and her attendants.

Presentation was opened by Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett. Chapter regent Mrs. Austin Flint welcomed guests who crowded the Crystal Ballroom for both showings. Convener was Mrs. Owen Fowler. Music was by Reg Stone at the console organ, and soloist during the wedding scene was Miss Terry Cain.

Mannequins were Linda Gibson, Karen Mathison, Kathy Todd, Terry Cain, Jackie Mackey, Mary Ringstad, Judy Brown, Betty Lumm, Michele Marinker, Pat Maygison, Evelyn Sherritt, Lorraine Travis, Bertha Greenbank, Helen Biernes, Bonnie Edwards, Jo Aiken of Vancouver, and life Elizabeth Tidman. Hair stylings were by Danny and commentator was Mrs. Ruth Deno.

Grandmother's Pearls and Brooch for Bride

For "something borrowed" Jacqueline Anne Lord wore pearls and a gold brooch belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. J. S. Humphries, for her marriage to Sub-Lt. (P) Lorne S. McDonald, RCN, in St. Mary's Anglican Church.

The bride's gown was slightly off train and had a V neckline and sleeves ending in lily points. The fitted bodice was styled with a V-shaped waistline that accented the full billowing skirt. A coronet of pearls and rhinestones held the short veil. Feathered carnations and orchids were in the bouquet. The gown was made by the bride, with the assistance of a family friend, Mrs. A. Sheard.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lord, 36 Gorge Road East, and Mr. and Mrs. Allan McDonald, of Haney, B.C. Mr. Lord gave his daughter in marriage.

Bavington-Stilwell Wedding at Lake

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Adam Bavington, who were married last Saturday afternoon in Shawnigan Lake United Church are now on a honeymoon trip by motor to California.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Glen William Stilwell of Shawnigan Lake and Mrs. Herbert John Bavington and the late Mr. Bavington of Victoria. Rev. G. L. Gillard officiated, assisted by Rev. R. B. Kniepe of Duncan.

Organist was Mrs. E. G. Gibson. Church was decorated under direction of Mrs. E. J. Clark with early autumn flowers.

The bride, former Sharon Ann Jacqueline Stilwell, wore an ivory poise de Fran gown, classically styled with long sleeves and belted skirt featuring layers of lace in bustle effect at centre back, held with fabric roses and extending into a train. A circlet of tiny white roses held a short bouffant veil. Only jewelry was a single strand of pearls which belonged to the bride's maternal grandmother and that was worn by her mother on her wedding. Bouquet was white roses.

Mr. Stilwell gave his daughter in marriage.

Maid of honor, Miss Gloria Nyberg wore a periwinkle blue peau de sole short-length dress and matching headpiece of three flat bows. Her flowers were bronze toned.

Jack Stacy, Victoria, was best man, and Gary Abbot, Victoria, and Jack Fleiden, Duncan, were ushers.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. A three-tier cake, made by her paternal grandmother, Mrs. W. J. Stilwell, Vancouver, and decorated by Frank Lyon, Shawnigan Lake, was cut.

The toast was proposed by Percy Hawkins, of Vancouver. For travelling the bride wore a gold and ivory Swiss jacquard ensemble.

On their return from the honeymoon the couple will live in Victoria.

Snap Will Keep Jacket From Gapping

"Dear Mrs. Farmer: The suit I am making has only two buttons for the closing. One is at the neckline and one below the waistline. Since I have a rather large bust, this causes my jacket to gap open at the bustline. Is it too late to do anything for this?" Mrs. R.G.

Dear Mrs. R.G.: If you are large in the bust, it is best to have some type of closure at this point. If a button will not work out according to the spacing you are using, you may use one or two large snaps in between the buttons.

Cover these snaps with matching color silk crepe, or a double layer of silk organza and carefully sew them on your jacket. They will hardly be noticeable, and will keep your jacket from gapping.

BUT BASIC ISSUES DOMESTIC

W. Germans Vote As Crisis Boils

ADENAUER

Teachers' Scale Adopted By Sooke

First school district in the region to adopt a new teacher salary scale increasing wages by a half of one per cent is Sooke District 62.

Both teachers and trustees gave unanimous support to the revised schedule for the district, which has a payroll of about $300,000. Payroll total has risen by slightly under 1½ per cent due to the individual revisions.

FARLEY'S FEEDING BISCUITS

really set a guy up!

Oh boy! Farley's make a fellow gurgle with delight. I've had them with my milk since I was two months old. Has your Mummy given you Farley's yet? She'll have more time for play when she does - they dissolve in a jiffy. And when a chap's cutting teeth a dry Farley's is so safe to chew. (P.S. Don't let Sis see your Farley's. She'll take them to school).

Get Farley's instant feeding biscuits from your favourite grocery store. They are an excellent source of essential vitamins and minerals.

BONN—West Germans vote Sunday in a general election made suspenseful by rising East-West tensions over the fate of West Berlin.

They will name the man who will lead their country in the crucial months and years ahead—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, 86, whose advanced age may work against him, or Willy Brandt, 47, mayor of West Berlin whose political star has risen with the deepening of the crisis over the Communist-encircled city.

Until the Berlin storm blew up a month ago, it seemed certain that Adenauer's ruling Christian Democratic party would be returned to power for four more years. Now, with worsening of the international situation, the issue is more in doubt.

The 37,000,000 voters will elect upwards of 494 deputies to the Bundestag lower house under a complicated electoral procedure featuring elements of the British and American systems.

Unbeaten So Far

There have been three general elections—in 1949, 1953 and 1957—since West Germany adopted its postwar constitution. Adenauer's Christian Democrats have won them all.

Of the major parties in the 1957 contest, the Christian Democrats polled 50.2 per cent of the vote and won 270 Bundestag seats, the Social Democrats 31.8 per cent of the vote and 169 seats and the Free Democrats 7.7 per cent for 40 seats.

Party standing in the last House was:

Coalition of Christian Democrats and Christian Socialists 278; Social Democrats 171; Free Democrats 42; Deutsch party six; total 497.

Brandt is running in this election as Social Democrat candidate for the chancellorship.

Though the basic issues in the election are domestic, the Berlin crisis has gained prominence in campaign oratory.

Both for West

However, insiders in both parties admit privately that, despite what might be said in the hustings, the commitment of both to go straight down the line with the Western alliance means practical unanimity on foreign policy.

For the past eight years, the Christian Democrats have had an absolute majority in the Bundestag and Adenauer, in turn, has ruled his party and cabinet with an iron hand.

Other than the Christian Democrats and the Social Democrats, the Free Democrats are the only important force on the political scene. Their leader is Erich Mende, 34, whose best chance to wield influence in the next government will be if his party can gain enough votes to hold the balance of power.

The Berlin crisis has caused many to question Adenauer's handling of it.

Brandt has criticized Adenauer's failure to show up in the divided city immediately after the Reds cut off travel between East and West Aug. 14, has accused him of failing to stand up to the Russians and insists he gives priority to military aspects of foreign policy instead of the diplomatic.

Victoria Daily Times 21
THURS., SEPT. 14, 1961

BRANDT
... fast-rising star

Adenauer, on the other hand, is urging cool deliberations at a summit conference backed up by a high state of Western preparedness.

To the chagrin of many of his party members, he has made repeated allusions to Brandt's illegitimate birth, has come close to calling him a traitor for spending the Second World War in Norwegian exile and has insinuated the Soviets would like to see him running the country.

Autumn Color Draws Tourists

VANCOUVER—A special "Autumn Leaves Rail Tour" also will be made at Vancouver, Winnipeg, Ottawa and Montreal for special dinners and allow time for shopping expeditions.

While in Canada the party will tour the Banff Lake Louise and Columbia icefield areas where the autumnal coloring is brilliant at this time. Stops also will be made at Vancouver, Winnipeg, Ottawa and Montreal for special dinners and allow time for shopping expeditions.

TEEN-AGE CANADA

New Trend Against That Steady Dating

By JACK HUTTON

I couldn't help overhearing a brown-eyed high school girl last week who sent a shiver through all her nearby friends. While flouncing down the front steps of her school, she shrilled:

"Sure, I know which curses I'll take—but who's going to be my steady date?"

A harmless remark? Or was it part of a trend among Canadian teen-agers which has sent shivers through principals, teachers and most students for the last few years?

Should you go steady during high school? If so, how old should you be and how long should you let the relationship last? Isn't four years a rather long time to go around with one person?

I'd like to hear what opinions you have on the subject. But first I sampled the opinions held by social workers, teachers, a few students and several interested groups. Here were a few of them:

● Miss Violet Munns, marriage counsellor for the Neighborhood Workers said: "From what I've seen, going steady too young can sometimes lead to early marriages before either person has really had a chance to grow up."

Part of growing up is knowing a great number of people and developing different interests. You don't get a chance to do that if you're restricted to seeing one person night after night, never dating anyone else.

Canadian teachers and principals have nothing against the practice of going steady in high school. There are many top students who have a steady date without letting school work slip. What frightens them is another group—who may be a minority.

Said one principal: "Every year I see young couples who apparently are looking for some kind of security by going steady. They look like young married couples walking from class to class together."

"What bothers me," he added, "is that they too often drift away from their other friends, missing the experience of learning about things with a group."

"Every so often a young couple start dating somewhere in high school and wind up getting married in their early teens. Some make the adjustment—but others feel trapped within a few years. I really feel sorry for them."

The final conclusion? I don't believe it's possible to make a black-and-white general statement to fit everyone. The question of going steady is something each high school student must decide personally.

For interest's sake, let's hear what you think. Are the adults right who think going steady is wrong for Canadian teen-agers? Write me your opinion and we'll print as many as possible.

Early Marriages

● The United Church has urged a ban on marriage for anyone under the age of 21. And some of its members have said the practise of going steady at a young age contributes to early marriages.

● In Toronto, at least, the students I talked to seemed to be against going steady.

Dan Nofke, a student council president, feels there is a new trend developing. "No one in their right mind would go steady and hope to be a top student," he said.

● Herb Graham, another student council president was in agreement. "I just don't think I'd have time for going steady and doing the preparation for going to university."

● Paul Hudson, 16, said his school has a new slogan: "Go steadily—but not steady," he said. "The trend I've noticed is for people to go out with three or four friends regularly, not just one."

Gail Barwick and Bob Hann, both 17, are probably an example of this philosophy. They describe themselves as good friends. But while they see each other a great deal, they don't feel they are going steady.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Ernie Kovacs has written two books for Doubleday the last month, in a motel at Andover, N.J., while his wife Edie Adams has been acting nearby—and one book, "How to Talk at Gino," reveals that Edie has a friendly but cool attitude about his gin rummy gambling.

Early one morning in their Beverly Hills home, Edie found Ernie in his steam room asleep.

Next morning, again missing him, she rushed into the steam room in a revealing nightgown, fearing the worst. Ernie and several cronies were there playing gin. When Edie left the room, Ernie asked his pals, "Who was that?"

Though Ernie'll do seven ABC TV specials this season, he says: "I don't dig the acting bit. I'd prefer to write and direct. I don't like the standing around."

But he's enthusiastic about Edie's acting. Particularly about her performance in a new play, "Free As a Bird," at Grist Mill Playhouse.

Ernie attends regularly and boos loudly from the back when she does a love scene with Richard Derr. "Billy Wilder and Sam Goldwyn think she's sensational," Ernie says. "Goldwyn came to a party we had and said 'Vere's Edie? I said she had to work.' Sam said, 'I wouldn't have come.'"

Elaine Stritch'll be a great big star—like Ethel Merman—after "Sail Away" hits town. A Hollywood striptease calls itself "The Body Shop." Comedian Bobby Ransome told a Las Vegas Sahara audience that only the most active TV shows make the networks now. "One of the first signed this season, because it is always so violent and gory, is the 6 O'Clock News." Paul Anka's new record "Kissin' On the Phone" zoomed to the top 40 in both Billboard and Cashbox this week. Anthony Quinn'll make $1,000,000 from "Navarone," "Barab" and "Lawrence of Arabia." Some folks think Judy Garland and Sid Luft will eventually reconcile. A chain is trying to buy the Hotel Edison for $10,000,000.

Fishermen talk funny (according to Columnist Cliff Millor, in the Port Wayne Journal Gazette) and here's some fisherman dialogue: "Hiya-mac," "Lobuddy," "Binealong?," "Cuplone," "Ketchanny?," "Cadda-Jew," "Kindarthy?," "Bassencarp?," "Enyusive-boom?," "Cuplapown?," "Wachoozin?," "Gobba-worm?," "Igoddago?," "Tubad?," "Yeahakadeecy?," "Guluck."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Producer David Merrick's coaxing Joan Crawford to appear on Bway next season. ("They're both in Atlantic City judging the Miss America contest)... The "Sound of Music" producers are bringing Theodore Bikel's replacement from London... Vivian Blaine burst into tears when Rosette Shaw sang "When We Were Young" at the Living Room.

EARL'S PEARLS: Marriage turns a cute dish into a cute dishwasher.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A Broadway showgirl confided that she'll elope Monday—unless, of course, there's something good on TV.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Nowadays about the only thing that comes to him who waits is whiskers—Pic Lar-mour.

A youngster in Texas wanted to run away from home—but his chauffeur was sick. That's earl, brother.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

If there's something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books, or other attractive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by you and readers and those who submit the questions will receive a set of valuable books, or other attractive prizes. The younger who asks the first question answers each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to John Gemender, age 11, of Roslyn, Penna., for his question:

What Exactly is Electricity?
We often learn how to use something before we learn how it works. Mankind used fire for long ages before he learned the nature of fire. Perhaps you learned to bounce a ball or skate over the ice before you learned the laws which make these things possible. Mankind learned to use electricity before he understood the nature of this great force of nature. In fact, there is still a great deal more to learn about it.

The first experimenters used a chemical battery to make a current run through a circuit of copper wire. The current was very small and the gadget was regarded as an interesting toy. But the experimenters noticed a kinship between electricity and magnetism, another mysterious force of nature. The current in the little wire made a magnetic needle turn towards it as it would turn towards the earth's magnetic pole.

These and other observations led to the dynamo which uses a magnet to make an electric current flow through a circuit of copper wire. The current flows when a disk or coil of copper wire cuts through and through the invisible lines of magnetic force which surround a magnet. This gives a jolt to something within the wire circuit and the wires become alive with electric current. The jolt is called voltage, though we still do not know for sure why or how it happens.

We do know more of what happens in the wire circuit, however. The wire of the circuit is made from atoms of copper. The atomic number of copper is 29, which means that there are 29 protons in the nucleus of the copper atom. There are also 29 electrons swarming around the nucleus of the copper atom. All electrons are arranged in orderly shells, one alongside another. The copper atom has a complete inner shell with two electrons, a second shell complete with eight and a third complete with 18 electrons. The 29th electron is a lone ranger in a fourth and uncompleted shell.

them and makes them all move in the same direction. In direct current, all 29 electrons are moving in one direction. In alternating current, they jog together back and forth. The number of jogs per second is called a cycle. A reading lamp needs the energy from about three billion billion electrons jogging back and forth 60 times a second.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Millicent Litaker, age 13, of Winston-Salem, N.C., for her question:

Where did the boll weevil come from?

In the year 1892, the southern tip of the great state of Texas was successfully invaded by a horde of insect pests. The cotton-boll-weevil crossed over from Mexico, its native land, and continued to spread across the United States at the rate of 60 miles a year.

U.S. TESTS TO RESUME IN WEEK OR 10 DAYS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is expected to resume underground nuclear testing within a week or 10 days.

This became known today as the joint congressional atomic committee called a private meeting to go over plans for the new American series and to hear a top-secret analysis of the nine Russian nuclear blasts since Sept. 1. The two latest Soviet shots came Wednesday. Representative Chet Holifield, California Democrat who is chairman of the joint group, told a reporter that atomic energy and defence department experts are working night and day "to get the American tests under way."

Holifield said that the experiments will start with a number of underground blasts of relatively low yield.

Chinese Mother Fights to Stay

OTTAWA (CP)—A Winnipeg Chinese mother has renewed her battle against deportation of herself and her 13-year-old daughter to Hong Kong.

Mrs. Chiu You Lai and her daughter, Patricia, have asked the immigration department to extend a permit which permitted them to reside in Canada until last September 2.

If the permit is not extended, the woman and her daughter will be subject to deportation. The case dates back six years when Mrs. Lai arrived in Canada on a visitor's permit. Extensions were granted but, when Mrs. Lai applied for permanent residence some two years ago, she was turned down and she and her daughter were ordered deported to Hong Kong.

The deportation order was not carried out, however. Mrs. Lai and her daughter received a permit permitting them to reside in Canada for one year. This permit was renewed a year ago but expired Sept. 2. An immigration department official said Mrs. Lai has applied for a third extension of her permit.

He said the application is being considered by the department. Until a decision is made, Mrs. Lai and her daughter will be allowed to remain in Canada without status.

After the deportation order was issued two years ago, a petition of protest was circulated in Winnipeg and some 4,000 persons signed it. Mrs. Lai has been staying in Winnipeg with a son-in-law, Alec Lum, and her daughter attends school there.

SRO CROWD FOR PEARSON

Back to Prosperity Liberal Objective

DEMERS CENTRE, Que. (CP)—Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson said Wednesday night the Liberal party is prepared to "get Canada out of its stagnation and back into prosperity."

Addressing an overflow crowd of more than 700 at a dinner rally in this Allumette Island community, across the Ottawa River from Pembroke, Ont., he said Liberals across the country are getting ready to fight the most important election in the party's modern history.

Hotel manager Sylvio St. Jean said 700 seats were provided for the $3-a-plate Liberal party dinner. The crowd overflowed into an adjoining room. Mr. Pearson said four years of Diefenbaker administration have led to a stagnation of the Canadian economy. "The paradise promised by the Conservatives has not been realized." The Conservatives were spending more than they collected in tax revenue and were fooling the nation with deficit financing. Despite over-spending, the government was unable to defeat massive unemployment.

"Our first problem is going to be to get people back to work," he said. "The Conservatives haven't been able to solve the critical unemployment situation, even with a federal budget of almost $2,000,000,000."

He hit at the government for "preaching and whining" about Britain's decision to join the European Common Market. Instead of complaining, the government should be doing something about developing an Atlantic free trade area to take up the slack.

New Threat to Mine-Mill Union Rule In Local Vote

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (CP)—The Mine-Mill union's executive faced a new threat Wednesday night as the Port Colborne local ordered a vote on whether the national office of the independent union should continue to act as its bargaining agent.

Local President Jim Babird said the members would be asked to vote Sept. 21 despite threats by National President Ken Smith of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers to place the local in trusteeship.

In Sudbury Wednesday an official of the United Steel workers of America, CLC claimed the union is doing a land office business in recruiting members from Mine-Mill's rebellious Local 598.

The hard-pressed executive came under attack from another direction. Colin Bates, president of the Sudbury branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, demanded a public apology from the executive for using the Sudbury cenotaph as a speaker's platform Sunday night.

'Severe Remedies' in Ceylon To Meet Economic Emergencies

COLOMBO (AP)—The tropical island of Ceylon, lush and prosperous compared to most other underdeveloped countries, is "in a state of economic emergency."

This is the way its prime minister, Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike, describes the rapidly rising cost of living. "The seriousness of the situation justifies the most severe remedies," she says.

Her immediate remedy is fixing prices of some consumer goods and trying to stamp out black marketing in government-controlled items.

But the economic emergency goes much deeper.

A sound financial position has ebbed away while a tide of rising population increased demands on Ceylon's economy. Inflation stalks the Indian Ocean island, threatening Mrs. Bandaranaike's government.

Ceylon's per capita income is almost twice as high as India's. But the figure for each of Ceylon's 10,000,000 persons is only 600 rupees ($126 a year), leaving a great need for development.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Channel Bridge or Tunnel Part of Common Market Deal

PARIS (AP)—France has decided Britain's application for membership in the European Common Market makes it a good time to win British approval of a century-old dream of a bridge or tunnel across the English Channel.

This is the meaning of a cabinet decree calling for exploratory negotiations with Britain on such a project.

France will make contact with British officials soon to get their reaction. At roughly the same time, Britain will be entering a long and complicated negotiation with the six-country Common Market on London's official request to join the Continental economic community.

There is no legal connection between the two concepts, but the French have evidently decided that if Britain wants to join the Continent in economics it might as well also do it physically. Moreover, with increasing trade and travel between the Island Kingdom and the Continent, the French feel that Britain is ready for it psychologically.

Assuming that Britain does join Euromart, the construction of a bridge or tunnel is a logical sequence. Direct and cheaper transportation would be necessary for the two sides to reap the full advantage of the removal of tariff barriers.

BARGAINING POINT

The French government did not say so, but from the timing of the move it is apparent France will make the channel project one of the factors in the intricate bargaining among the six community states and Britain.

Britain is well aware that President de Gaulle will be the hardest man to convince when the Euromart talks get going.

For years the French have proposed a "fixed connection" across the channel. As far back as Napoleon's time, there were plans for a tunnel that would enable the emperor to lead his troops onto the enemy islands. In the early 1900s a pilot tunnel actually was started.

But each time France asked London to co-operate, the British refused. In most cases, the war office, harking back to Napoleon's dream, turned down the plan for security reasons. But in this age of rockets and jet planes such reasons are considered outmoded.

The French do not express any preference between a tunnel or bridge. Until recently, the favorite among planners has been a tunnel. One group, backed by the French administrators of the old Suez Canal Company, has been actively pushing for a rail tunnel.

CRITICS OBJECT

Critics object to the lack of any roadway that would permit a motorist to drive straight from France into Britain. The proponents have replied that special railway flatcars could move motorcars through at an acceptable pace.

Another tunnel project, now some 30 years old, is the brainchild of Frenchman Andre Badier. It would be a double-deck affair, with a highway on one level and two rail lines on another. The top segment would be used to evacuate gasoline fumes, while beneath the roadway would be ducts for fresh air.

Critics attack the need, in this project, for constant air pumping and the dangers inherent in any failure of the air pumps.

A sturdy group headed by Jules Moch, an elder statesman of the Socialist party, proposes a bridge wide enough for five lanes of traffic, two rail lines and even room for bicycle and motorcycle riders. Critics say a bridge could be hazardous in bad weather, but the sponsors claim that metal shields would protect crossers adequately.

WALKOUTS HOLD UP GMC PRODUCTION UNTIL NEXT WEEK

DETROIT (AP)—Any hope of General Motors' getting back into high-gear production of 1962 model cars before next week is gone.

Five new at-the-plant working agreements were reached overnight, bringing to 33 the number of local-level contract settlements worked out with striking members of the United Auto Workers union. But GM's empire is made up of 129 plants.

Some plants where agreements have been reached still are idle. Others lack agreements but are operating. In all, 90-plus were made idle by Monday walkouts.

The five overnight agreements came out of 37 local bargaining sessions across the country between union and plant management officials Wednesday night. Despite the few agreements, Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, predicted: "This thing will develop its own momentum."

It's a Whale to Dale

Outweighed by 10 pounds but not overawed by the thought, two-year-old Dale McInnis of 3766 Duke Street gazes at the 35-pound, 15-ounce spring salmon that father Mickey caught off Albert Head Wednesday. The lunker took 90 minutes to land. Equally impressive was the 18-pound, three-ounce coho that Dale's mother hooked near the same spot.

Fleming, Lloyd Clash Over U.K. Trade Plans

ACCRA, Ghana (CP)—Finance Minister Donald Fleming said Wednesday the United Kingdom is irretrievably "launched on a slippery slope" to membership in the European Common Market. As a result the Commonwealth never will be the same again.

In an impassioned speech to the Commonwealth economic ministers' conference, the Canadian minister said the U.K.—free and sovereign—is the indispensable leader of the Commonwealth.

But Canada could see no prospect that the U.K., having opened negotiations on Common Market membership, could withdraw now.

Whatever the result of the negotiations, he said, relations between the U.K. and other Commonwealth members never will be the same again.

"If we are to look at the possibilities of negotiations with any degree of realism, we cannot fail to see that economic and political relationships within the Commonwealth will be fundamentally changed."

SPEAKS AN HOUR

In an hour-long statement to the closed conference, Fleming also said: "The United Kingdom cannot have its foot in each group—and retain the freedom of action which is necessary to its leadership of the Commonwealth."

Selwyn Lloyd, the U.K. chancellor of the exchequer, closing the day-long discussion, took issue with Fleming's basic argument.

Lloyd said he didn't think the U.K.'s membership in the

HEES' BLAST INCORRECTLY QUOTED—PM

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today he is sure a press report of a statement by Trade Minister Hees in Accra does not represent what Mr. Hees said.

He was replying in the Commons to Opposition Leader Pearson who said the report quoted Mr. Hees as saying Britain must choose between the European Common Market and the Commonwealth.

MAY CALL CONFERENCE

Lloyd also said he envisages a conference of Commonwealth prime ministers being called before the U.K. winds up its Common Market negotiations.

Speaking before Fleming, Trade Minister George Hees spelled out gloomy results for Canada from U.K. membership in the Common Market.

Hees said that if Britain accepts the Common Market tariff system, "extensive damage and in some cases irreparable damage, would result from the loss of our present trading arrangements with the United Kingdom."

He said the Canadian government strongly urges the U.K., in approaching negotiations on Common Market membership, to "ensure that the trading arrangements which exist between the U.K. and her Commonwealth part-

GARLA GIVES CHICAGO RECORD BREAKING RAIN

(By UP International)

The sodden remnants of Hurricane Carla hit Chicago with record-breaking rains today on its meandering ramble from the storm-devastated Texas coast to the Great Lakes.

The night-long Chicago rains flooded 3,000 basements, swamped city buses, snarled traffic on flooded streets, and forced suburban rescue crews to turn out in rowboats. The flow of the Chicago River was reversed, forcing it back into Lake Michigan, to prevent flooding in the loop area.

In a six-hour period ending at 1 a.m., Chicago had been soaked by 2.41 inches of rain.

150 Katangans, 30 UN Soldiers Killed or Wounded As War Flares

(CP from AP-Reuters)

LEOPOLDVILLE—Bitter fighting flared again in Elisabethville today. Reports from the capital of Katanga said white-officered Katanga troops fired on United Nations aircraft and bombed a refugee camp with mortars.

Reports reaching Leopoldville, capital of the Congo, said that during the night Katanga launched three determined attacks against the city's post office but were beaten off by UN Indian troops with heavy losses.

About 150 Katanga troops were estimated to have been killed or wounded in the fighting so far. United Nations casualties were said to have risen to more than 40.

The counter-attack came as the UN troops appeared to have a tight grip on the key points in the provincial capital.

A UN spokesman said the Katanga forces apparently had been rallied by their white officers and were holding isolated pockets in the city.

The headquarters of the Katanga Army in Elisabethville was burning fiercely as the result of a UN bombardment, it was reported. The UN opened up on the Katanga camp after anti-aircraft guns there had fired on a UN plane as it tried to land at the nearby airport. The plane was not believed to have been damaged.

Local UN commanders expressed confidence that guns in the camp would be silenced by tonight.

Messages reaching Leopoldville reported that Katanga President Moise Tshombe was holed up in his presidential palace surrounded by hundreds of his troops.

He originally sought refuge in the British consulate in Elisabethville but moved on several times after that, it was reported.

FIRE ON REFUGEES

Throughout Wednesday Katangans, led by white officers, bombed an Elisabethville camp housing 40,000 Baluba tribal refugees, according to reports, and opened up again today with mortars and machine-guns.

Said a UN spokesman: "It sounds distressingly as though the bombardment has caused casualties."

He broke down when the woman teacher of his young son described him in glowing terms.

This was evidence of what Mr. Ostler called "an inner torment from which there is no escape" during his summation before imposing sentence.

GROMYKO
... next week

Gromyko, Rusk To Discuss Views

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia today announced its readiness to open talks in New York with the United States over the Berlin crisis and other world problems.

An announcement by the Soviet foreign ministry said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, leader of the Russian delegation to the United Nations next week, is ready for an exchange of opinions with U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk.

The announcement was in reply to President Kennedy's statement in Washington Wednesday that the U.S. is prepared for "serious" talks.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western Big Four foreign ministers open a conference here today to chart the Allied approach to Russia next week on negotiations for a Berlin settlement.

The three-day Western policy conference is scheduled to start at the state department at mid-afternoon with Rusk, Foreign Secretary Lord Home of Britain, and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville of France attending.

SCHEDULES TALKS

Rusk scheduled preliminary talks earlier in the day with Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano of West Germany and Lord Home.

Home said on his arrival that the foreign ministers will seek a fair basis for discussions with the Russians on Berlin. But he said a negotiated settlement of the problem does not depend entirely on the Western allies, adding that it takes two to make for successful negotiations.

Three main issues are set for discussion—the problem of Berlin negotiation between Russia and the Western powers, the planning of emergency measures to meet specific steps the Russians could take to put pressure on West Berlin and issues which may come up at the United Nations.

The third item is understood to include tactics for stopping Russia's expected bid to give Communist China a seat in the UN.

Belgian officials pointed out that Spaak this week advocated an East-West attempt to set up an experimental disarmament plan on a limited scale.

BRUSSELS SPEECH

The Belgian foreign minister in a speech in Brussels Monday, presumably after he received the Soviet invitation, referred to international tensions and said:

"Now that the situation has totally evolved, why not speak about a limited experiment consisting of the creation in the world of a zone... where we would try to make an attempt at disarmament—at least a controlled attempt..."

WIDE ZONE PICTURED

The Belgian foreign minister also was reported to have mentioned the possibility of a demilitarized zone stretching from the Elbe to the Vistula rivers and including West and East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Spaak's suggestion seemed to resemble the abortive plan put forth in 1958 by Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki.

READY TO TALK

Kennedy said Wednesday in his statement on Berlin that the United States is ready to discuss the Berlin crisis with Russia and other governments in a search for means "to preserve an honorable peace."

"If that is the purpose, on all sides there is no need for resort to force."

Fires on Docked Ship

MONTREAL (CP)—A series of small fires which broke out early today aboard the Empress of England, docked in Montreal, are believed to have been deliberately set. Police said the fires were put out in about an hour by firemen from two stations.

Queen as President Of United Europe?

See also Page 5

MANCHESTER (Reuters)—A British peer said today "gamblers might get good odds" that the Queen will be president of Europe 20 years from now.

Lord Altrincham, a severe critic of the monarchy who urges it should be liberalized, made the comment in an article in the Guardian of Manchester.

He was answering charges that British institutions, among them the monarchy, would suffer if Britain joined the six-nation European Common Market.

"To suppose for one moment that it (the monarchy) would suffer... is to believe that legal technicalities are more potent than the romantic instincts in human society, whereas, of course, the reverse is true," he said.

"Like so many of our national institutions it might benefit from a little foreign competition."

"If the head of the European community were to be elected from among the heads of member states, a healthy spirit of emulation might be fostered."

"Gamblers might get good odds for a bet that our Queen will be president of Europe 20 years from now."

TRIAL FOR MURDER ORDERED IN QUEBEC CAR BOMB SLAYING

MONTMAGNY, Que. (CP) — Joseph Letourneau, 63-year-old electrician, Wednesday was ordered to trial on a charge of murder in the bomb slaying of Charles Baillargeon, Aug. 15.

Baillargeon was blown up by a bomb he found on the seat of his jeep at his farm in nearby St. Pierre.

Two U.S. Students Held as 'Smugglers'

(CP From AP-Reuters)

BERLIN — Two Americans touring Europe are being held by Communist authorities on charges of trying to smuggle an East German woman into West Berlin.

Victor Pankey and Gilbert Ferrey, both 20, of Tustin, Calif., were accused of hiding the woman in the luggage compartment of a small German car while visiting East Berlin.

The East German interior ministry—quoted by the ADN news agency—said Wednesday night they were picked up at the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint, the only one open for foreigners in the divided city.

The two college students were taking a vacation in Europe before returning to their classes in the United States.

A Briton and a Dutchman also were reported seized by the Communists in what they charged were separate attempts to bring out three East Berliners described only as "female persons."

The Briton, Bernhard Col-

lett, 30, was charged with trying to kidnap a woman by hiding her in the luggage compartment of his car. The Dutchman, Henri J. Pierrot, 55, was accused of trying to get a woman across the border on his wife's passport.

East German officials said all four would be handed over to Communist courts for trial.

East Berlin police hurled two tear gas bombs Wednesday at a West Berlin loudspeaker truck on Western side of the border—but the West Berliners fired them right back into Communist territory.

Ernst Lemmer, West Germany's minister for all-German affairs, said a wave of political arrests is sweeping East Germany. He said the daily number of refugees escaping to the West is still "in three figures" despite the barriers put up by the East Germans.

Firefighters Gaining On Salt Spring Blaze

Under Control Later Today, Says Official

A 700-acre forest fire which "exploded" Wednesday on a Salt Spring Island mountain side is expected to be under control late today.

Thirty men with tractors and four mobile water tankers are battling the blaze on Mount Tuam on the southern end of the island.

Flames flashed from 10 acres to 100 acres within about 15 minutes of the time they were first spotted by a nearby Forest Service lookout on Mount Bruce at 1:10 p.m. Wednesday.

Intense heat of the flames, fed by extremely dry scrub and old logging slash, made it difficult to fight, as water evaporated almost immediately.

There is no threat to homes, farms or livestock, according to reports from the scene, although local farmers have a number of sheep grazing on Mount Tuam.

Smoke today covered a large area of the island, and overnight the flashes of flame and dense smoke were visible from many points on Vancouver Island.

A crowd gathered on Lands End Road near Deep Cove to watch the "show."

But firefighters were making good progress today, attacking a series of small hot spots on the mountain.

"We believe it should be brought under control very rapidly today," said a forest service official.

ESQUIMALT SHIPS CRUNCH

Destroyer escort HMCS Ottawa was damaged slightly in collision with the frigate HMCS Ste. Therese as the latter manoeuvred to her berth at HMC Dockyard at 10 a.m. today.

There were no injuries in either ship and the frigate escaped damage, according to a statement issued by Pacific Naval Command.

It was reported the bows of the two ships came together above the waterline.

The destroyer escort was secured in her berth at the time.

Ste. Therese is commanded by Lieut.-Cmdr. Arthur G. Murray, of Toronto and Halifax, who was on the bridge at the time of the collision.

CENTENNIAL PROJECT

City Hall Plan Praised - Hydro HQ Still Eyed

By JOHN MIKA

Victoria centennial committee recommendation for a new $1,200,000 City Hall across Blanshard from the new Law Courts building was generally praised today—but negotiations will continue for acquisition of the B.C. Hydro building as a civic headquarters.

The proposed building was the biggest item in a three-stage program recommended by the committee to this afternoon's meeting of city council. Also included are development of the Cathedral Hill civic precinct and establishment of Craigdarroch Castle as a city museum and archives.

Aldermen were expected to turn the proposal over to their 18-month-old City Hall study committee for an early report.

CHAIRMAN PLEASED
Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of that committee, said he was pleased that need for a City Hall was given full recognition.

"We certainly will have a meeting soon, if council refers the plan to us, to see how it can best be implemented."

"But personally, I still think we will continue to try to get the B.C. Hydro building as a City Hall."

Mayor Percy Scurrell, agreeing with Ald. Dowell, said all informal negotiations for the Hydro building have been made "on the basis that we will pay the appraised value of the building. We are not asking something for nothing from the government."

FIRST PREFERENCE
Ald. Dowell said he felt acquisition of the B.C. Hydro building was the first preference, with a new building as the alternative, because it would be more economic, could be put into actual use during the centennial celebrations and was ideally located in the civic precinct area.

If negotiations fail, then the city should proceed with construction of a new building, he said.

Meanwhile, guarded response came from school board chairman W. C. Gelling to a centennial committee suggestion that the school board could help pay part of a new building's cost in return for accommodation at a nominal rent.

"The board would need a tangible proposal before it could even consider such a question," he said.

(Previous attempts at interesting the board in a similar deal were fruitless.)

MAKES FOR ECONOMY
Mayor Scurrell told the committee putting the school board and city staffs under one roof would make maintenance costs more economical.

But he stressed its great importance would be freeing of Craigdarroch Castle for the third-stage of the centennial program—development of a museum tourist attraction.

Ald. Dowell said it was probably true the school board could not be accommodated in the B.C. Hydro building along with city staff. But, he pointed out, if the board builds new quarters for itself, as expected, the castle will become available anyway.

The centennial committee's proposal called for expenditure of some $400,000 to acquire and landscape the Cathedral Hill civic precinct as proposed earlier this year by the planning commission.

PROPERTY NEEDED
The precinct proposal involves acquisition of private property in the block bounded by Blanshard, Burdett, Quadra and Broughton and renaming it Centennial Square.

It would enable creation of a plaza around the Royal Theatre (possibly to become a civic auditorium in the future) and the planned new I.M.-WVCA building.

Markers in Pioneer Square would be restored, Rockland Avenue alongside Christ Church Cathedral closed and a complementary park established across Quadra Street in front of Pioneer Square and the cathedral.

MONEY BYLAW
If city council decides to go ahead with the total project, it would have to schedule a money bylaw for ratepayer approval—probably at the civic election Dec. 14.

Mayor Scurrell said he expected the provincial government, strongly in favour of the civic precinct proposal because it adjoins the Law Courts, would contribute a substantial portion of the land acquisition costs.

Communist, No! But Small 'I' Liberal, Yes!
W. A. "Bill" Scott, who interrupted a stormy Socialist meeting Tuesday night, today described himself as a "non-conformist" with a leaning towards "militant liberalism" and "true socialism."

"At various times I have publicly admitted to being a crackpot, a Socialist and a small 'I' Liberal. But I am not prepared to admit to being a Communist. Nor are any of my friends."

3 Student Council Men Quit Posts
Surprise resignation of three top students' council officials was tendered at the first assembly of the new student body of Victoria College this morning at the Gordon Head auditorium.

No reasons were given. The students' council is the governing executive of the 1,650-member Alma Mater Society which includes all registered students at the college.

Karl Wylie, president of the students' council; Malcolm Potts, vice-president; and Peter Chapman, president of the Men's Undergraduate Society, announced their resignations at a meeting called to hear welcoming addresses from Judge J. R. Clearhue, chairman of the college council, and Dr. Harry Hickman, Victoria College principal.

During the introduction of students' council members after the main speakers had made their speeches, Mr. Wylie indicated that extraordinary business was at hand, and the three resignations were tendered.

INUNDATED with inquiries are three officials of Victoria College, seen here just before the college's opening assembly at Gordon Head this morning. Wearing academic

MOUNTAIN WEARS FIERY CROWN

Vast column of smoke poured skyward from flames engulfing large part of western slope of Mount Tuam, at south end of Salt Spring Island. Fire broke out Wednesday in logging slash and second growth timber. Barely visible behind TCA Vanguard in

... HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

It seems that Rudyard Kipling had a high old time of it when he visited Victoria back in 1907.

The Silver Threads Club has unearthed a poem he wrote here in November of that year. In it he refers to a "night out" with the late John Virtue, then proprietor of the Oak Bay Hotel. Part of it goes:

A rickety staircase, hard to climb,
But I rested often; I'd lots of time,
An awkward keyhole, a misplaced chair,
Informed my wife that I was there.

There are four more verses along the same theme.

Canada and the United States should have been developed up and down "in strips," says Bob Orkell from San Francisco. "The truth is," he said, "we people of California have more in common with you folks in B.C. than we have with Americans in New York and Washington."

"This whole Pacific Coast strip could have been a country in itself."

And it very nearly was!

It's never too late to be prepared.

A 93-year-old man tells me he has just installed a nuclear fallout shelter in the basement for himself and his wife.

"Frankly I don't think they'll ever use those damn things," he said, "but I believe in being prepared."

A local builder was touched by my story of the young Danish plumber who couldn't find work in Victoria, and offered to help.

He added, ironically, that many European craftsmen are too thorough for North America.

"The emphasis today is on speed rather than quality. And that is a direct result of high wages. Employers want the maximum of work in the absolute minimum of hours. It is a sad commentary on the times."

Around Town ... Purchasers at Humboldt Street liquor store were startled when the figure $504 popped up on a cash register. It was the week's supply for a large party of American fishermen heading up-Island.

Quite a mixup at the old courthouse Wednesday afternoon—the small debts court was held in appeal court, the exchequer court in the small debts court, and a divorce case was heard in county court.

Oh, for that new courthouse!

DR. KEENLEYSIDE to Kootenays

Hydro Chief To Attend Hearings

B.C. Power Commission chairman Dr. H. L. Keenleyside will attend public hearings in the Kootenays next week on the Columbia River power project.

The hearings are part of the process in the commission's application to the B.C. water rights branch for a licence to build three dams on the Columbia—Mica Creek, Arrow and Duncan lakes.

Hearings open Monday at Revelstoke, with other meetings at Kaslo, Nakusp and Castlegar.

Travelling with Dr. Keenleyside will be a team of technical officials who have worked on the commission's plans.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

DROVE PUMPER

Former City Smoke-Eater Visits 'Shrine'

By HAL JONES

Almost everyone has seen "The Redfern Pumper"—that venerable piece of fire fighting equipment enclosed in a glass case outside Victoria Fire Department's No. 1 Hall on Yates Street—but few have seen it in action.

Seventy-three-year-old Albert Waring of Richmond, Calif., has not only seen it—he was its driver from 1906 to 1909.

Visiting the city today, Mr. Waring was busy recalling memories for the benefit of city firemen, of the days when fire pumps were horse drawn.

Looking through some of the department's dusty, brown and half-forgotten photographs he had little difficulty in identifying the men he worked with 55 years ago.

JOINED AS DRIVER
Born in Alberni of pioneer stock, he joined Victoria Fire Department as a driver in 1906 at the age of 18. He was stationed at the old fire headquarters on Cormorant Street, which at that time had 21 men and six pieces of equipment (including the fire chief's buggy). Fire chief was Tom Watson.

"The Redfern was a pretty good piece of equipment in those days," said Mr. Waring.

"Then there was also 'The Grant' and 'The Deluge', the other two horse drawn pumps. These heavy pieces of equipment were used only in the business district.

The Redfern used to be drawn by a pair of horses named Prince and Bleucher. Prince was the pride of the fire department."

Biggest fire he can remember was the one which destroyed the area around lower Chatham Street in 1908.

FABULOUS LILLIAN
But the proudest day during his life in Victoria was when the famous actress Lillian Russell rode beside him on the Redfern in the May 24 parade.

"She was said to be the most beautiful woman in the world."

"I met her while on duty in the old Opera House and she asked me to take her in the parade with me," Mr. Waring recalled.

"We were the chief attraction that day," he chuckled. Mr. Waring married a Victoria girl, Julia Jones, in 1914 and left shortly afterwards for California where he went into the construction business. He retired five years ago.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Could you please tell me, is it legal to use a .22 rim-fire rifle to shoot grouse?—M.C.D.
A. Yes. Blue and white grouse are the only game birds which may be legally shot with a rifle. There is no restriction on calibre of the rifle.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve problems or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

High school students interested in training under the Young Soldiers Training Plan are invited to attend an open house to be given by Victoria militia units at Work Point Barracks Oct. 21.

At the open house they will see demonstrations of national survival, military drill and use of weapons.

Winter training for students will be held Saturday mornings.

Burnside PTA will meet in the school auditorium Monday at 8 p.m. when school nurse Mrs. Vera Tudor will show a film.

The group will hold a sewing meeting at the home of Mrs. Pearl Taylor, 45 Gorge Road East, Sept. 26 at 8 p.m.

FINAL BULLETINS

Russians Launch Giant Rocket

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union has launched the first in its new series of giant rockets over the Pacific, the Soviet news agency Tass said tonight.

The agency described the rocket as "a new, more powerful multi-stage carrier rocket" and said it was fired more than 7,500 miles out into the central Pacific.

3 Hunters Feared Drowned In Yukon

EDMONTON (CP)—Three men are missing and believed to have drowned during a weekend hunting trip to Mayo Lake in the Yukon, 1,100 miles north of Edmonton, police reported.

RCMP identified them as Albert Senger, 29, his brother Leon, 31, and Arthur Johnson, 38. They worked for a mine near Calumet. The Sengers lived in Cedar, B.C., before moving north. It was not known where Johnson had lived.

Diamond Mining Claims Filed In Sask.

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Winnipeg man said today he has staked claims in the Prince Albert area of Saskatchewan in the hope of finding industrial diamonds.

Maxim Pellack, 45, a Winnipeg office manager with Paramount Motors, confirmed Thursday that he staked claims in the Nesbit forest reserve just north of Prince Albert last June. After two diamonds about 1/4-inch in diameter were found in gravel soil in the reserve, he said.

Steelworkers Strike In Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—A strike of structural steelworkers in South Ontario spread today when work at two more projects was halted to back up wage demands. Workers at a bridge in the Sudbury area at Massey walked out, as did men on a water tower project at Perth.

IN NEW YORK

Russ Willing To Open Talks

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia today announced its readiness to open talks in New York with the United States over the Berlin crisis and other world problems.

An announcement by the Soviet foreign ministry said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, leader of the Russian delegation to the United Nations next week, is ready for an exchange of opinions with U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk.

The announcement was in reply to President Kennedy's statement in Washington Wednesday that the U.S. is prepared for "serious" talks.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western Big Four foreign ministers open a conference here today to chart the Allied approach to Russia next week on negotiations for a Berlin settlement.

The three-day Western policy conference is scheduled to start at the state department at mid-afternoon with Rusk, Foreign Secretary Lord Home of Britain, and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville of France attending.

SCHEDULE TALKS

Rusk scheduled preliminary talks earlier in the day with Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano of West Germany and Lord Home. Von Brentano will join the main conference Friday morning and participate in the sessions which will continue into Saturday.

Home said on his arrival that the foreign ministers will seek a fair basis for discussions with the Russians on Berlin. But he said a negotiated settlement of the problem does not depend entirely on the Western allies, adding that it takes two to make for successful negotiations.

Three main issues are set for discussion—the problem of Berlin negotiation between Russia and the Western powers, the planning of emergency measures to meet specific steps the Russians could take to put pressure on West Berlin and issues which may come up at the United Nations. The third item is understood to include tactics for stopping Russia's expected bid to give Communist China a seat in the UN.

READY TO TALK

Kennedy said Wednesday in his statement on Berlin that the United States is ready to discuss the Berlin crisis with Russia and other governments in a search for means "to preserve an honorable peace."

"If that is the purpose on all sides there is no need for resort to force."

Tenth Soviet Test Blasted

Fires on Docked Ship

MONTREAL (CP)—A series of small fires which broke out early today aboard the Empress of England, docked in Montreal, are believed to have been deliberately set. Police said the fires were put out in about an hour by firemen from two stations.

Queen as President Of United Europe?

MANCHESTER (Reuters)—A British peer said today "gamblers might get good odds" that the Queen will be president of Europe 20 years from now.

Lord Altrincham, a severe critic of the monarchy who urges it should be liberalized, made the comment in an article in the Guardian of Manchester.

He was answering charges that British institutions, among them the monarchy, would suffer if Britain joined the six-nation European Common Market.

"To suppose for one moment that it (the monarchy) would suffer . . . is to believe that legal technicalities are more potent than the romantic instincts in human society, whereas, of course, the reverse is true," he said.

"Like so many of our national institutions it might benefit from a little foreign competition.

"If the head of the European community were to be elected from among the heads of member states, a healthy spirit of emulation might be fostered.

"Gamblers might get good odds for a bet that our Queen will be president of Europe 20 years from now."

CONVENTIONAL BATTLES OVER

Nuclear War . . . Or Peace

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet marshals warned today that any war between Russia and the West would turn into a nuclear holocaust.

Defence Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky wrote in Pravda that Soviet forces would be at an advantage because their rockets can deliver nuclear bombs that "will reach the aggressor in his own den."

Malinovsky said the Russians have great nuclear arms "amounting to many millions of tons of TNT."

Western correspondents received a similar view in a rare chat with another marshal, Andrei Yermenko, who commanded victorious Soviet forces at Stalingrad. He is deputy defence minister and inspector general of the Red Army.

Yermenko spoke to newspaper men while flying back to Moscow from a visit to Stalingrad. He recalled that two months ago he wrote in the Soviet magazine International Life that U.S. officials were boosting their conventional forces to avoid forcing Russia into a nuclear war.

He told the correspondents it will not work out that way—small wars will develop into nuclear conflicts.

To support this view, the marshal said the First World War, began with rifles and machine-guns but ended with tanks; the second began with tanks and ended with nuclear weapons, and the third would start with rockets carrying nuclear warheads.

Malinovsky wrote:

"The use of the means of mass destruction and massive blows will impart to this war an aspect of unprecedented devastation. We must prepare our armed forces for such a strenuous, difficult and exceptionally fierce war."

"The Soviet armed forces have at their disposal not only the usual nuclear arms, but also bombs of greater capacity amounting to many millions of tons of TNT. The destructive and explosive potential of this ammunition is vast."

"The aggressors should remember that the powerful rockets like those which put the Vostok I and Vostok II ships into orbit can lift and deliver such nuclear bombs to any point on earth."

HEES' BLAST INCORRECTLY QUOTED—PM

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today he is sure a press report of a statement by Trade Minister Hees in Accra does not represent what Mr. Hees said.

He was replying in the Commons to Opposition Leader Pearson who said the report quoted Mr. Hees as saying Britain must choose between the European Common Market and the Commonwealth.

Mr. Diefenbaker said Canada has pointed out "to Britain the 'potential effects' of British membership in the Common Market unless provision were made for protection of Commonwealth trade preferences."

No such alternative as attributed to Mr. Hees had been advanced by the Canadian government.

Two U.S. Students Held as 'Smugglers'

(CP From AP-Reuters)

BERLIN — Two Americans touring Europe are being held by Communist authorities on charges of trying to smuggle an East German woman into West Berlin.

Victor Pankey and Gilbert Ferrey, both 20, of Tustin, Calif., were accused of hiding the woman in the luggage compartment of a small German car while visiting East Berlin.

The East German interior ministry—quoted by the ADN news agency—said Wednesday night they were picked up at the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint, the only one open for foreigners in the divided city.

The two college students were taking a vacation in Europe before returning to their classes in the United States.

A Briton and a Dutchman also were reported seized by the Communists in what they charged were separate attempts to bring out three East Germans described only as "female persons."

The Briton, Bernhard Col-

lett, 30, was charged with trying to kidnap a woman by hiding her in the luggage compartment of his car. The Dutchman, Henri J. Pierrot, 35, was accused of trying to get a woman across the border on his wife's passport.

East German officials said all four would be handed over to Communist courts for trial. East Berlin police hurled two tear gas bombs Wednesday at a West Berlin loudspeaker truck on Western side of the border—but the West Berliners fired them right back into Communist territory.

Ernst Lemmer, West Germany's minister for all-German affairs, said a wave of political arrests is sweeping East Germany. He said the daily number of refugees escaping to the West is still "in three figures" despite the barriers put up by the East Germans.
